PRESIDENT CLAIMS:

U.S. Income At Its Peak

Ike Winds Up His Nationwide Tour For GOP Campaign; HST Claim Blasted

Chicago (AP)—President Eisenhower climaxed his coast-to-coast campaign swing Wednesday night by asserting Americans have become more prosperous than ever during his administration.

Speaking to a cheering crowd of more than 4,500 at the Chicago stockyard auditorium in which he was nominated for the Presidency, Eisenhower said the recession has been licked without the help of "A federal wheelchair" and in spite of "radical" demands from Democrats in Congress for huge spending programs.

The President's speech, telecast nationally, was delivered to a $10 a plate dinner of Republican precinct workers. It was his last address on a 5,300-mile tour which took him to the West Coast and back.

The chief executive quoted a report from the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, Dr. Raymond Sauminier, saying "personal income is at an alltime high and is continuing to rise. We can confidently expect further increases in jobs and in incomes as our economy expands."

Earlier, in the course of the President's campaign swing from Iowa to California, the White House accused former President Truman of trying to rewrite history in order to justify an "impossible" war in Korea—a "can't-win-it-war" that was taking a mounting toll of American lives.

This statement, put out by presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, was in reply to a Truman statement to the effect that President Eisenhower surrendered to communism in the settlement he accepted in the Korean War.

Own Version

In Wednesday night's speech, televised nationally, Eisenhower, continuing what might be called his own version of "give-em-hell" technique, accused the Democrats of spending too much money, trying to push into state and local affairs and of being divided to the point where they are "incapable of offering America anything except deadlocked government."

Eisenhower said both Democrats and Republicans are united in a search for a peaceable world and a strong defense.

"But on matters domestic and non-military," he said, "our political parties part company . . .

"Republicans practice efficiency and thrift. The dominant wing of the other party most assuredly does not.

Not Sectional

"Republicanism is not sectional—not divided on social and fiscal grounds.

"Yet the opposition is so bitterly split as in fact to constitute two distinct parties, masquerading under one name. By virtue of its built-in antagonisms the opposition is incapable of offering America anything except deadlocked government."

In Wednesday night's speech, Eisenhower hit the same theme he sounded in California—where he first pinned the label "radical" on the Democrats and said they are dominated by leftwing elements.

Eisenhower stressed his view that economic conditions are getting better day-by-day.

"Great news indeed—for every family in America," he said. "Clear it is that the recession is now rapidly running out."

Referring to a Washington report on economic conditions, the President said labor's share of the national income is 6% higher than in 1952, when he was elected President.

Jet Air Crash Kills 31

Fighter, Airliner Collide Above Anzio, Italy

Anzio, Italy (AP)—A British turbo-prop airliner and an Italian jet fighter collided in a cloudless sky 4 miles over this World War II battlefield Wednesday.

The 31 person in the passenger plane plummeted to death. The fighter pilot parachuted into the sea and was rescued.

Among the victims were a honeymooning American girl, the blonde former Diana Muckerman, 26, of New York City, and the Englishman she married in London Tuesday. The husband was Desmond Cubitt, son of a wealthy British building contractor.

The 4-engine British European Airways (BEA) Viscount was flying at 23,500 feet. The weather was clear, but cold.

An airline spokesman said the collision tore open the front of the airliner's fuselage.

The plane's pressurized cabin was decompressed suddenly and most of the passengers were sucked out into the air.

Mrs. Alida Carini, a Nettuno housewife, looked up and saw the bodies falling, dark against the sky.

"It looked like they were throwing leaflets out of the plane," she said.

The Viscount plunged into an Italian Army artillery range about 500 yards from the Mediterranean and burst into flames. Pieces of wreckage flew over an area of more than a mile.

There were 26 passengers and a crew of 5 on the plane. It was en route from London to Naples and Malta.

Among the passengers was Jane Buckingham, auburn-haired, 24-year-old London model, who was flying to Naples to see Indian Prince Shiv to straighten out a romantic tangle.

Butler Dixie View Rejected By HST

. . . Nixon Charges Called 'Garbage'

New York (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman Wednesday bluntly rejected Democratic national Chairman Paul Butler's stand that southern Democrats should either stick with the party's civil rights position or get out.

"I do not agree with Mr. Butler," said Truman. "I am not reading anyone out of the party. We want all the people in our column that we can get."

Truman came here by train from Wilmington, Del., where he attacked the Eisenhower administration's foreign and domestic policies and accused Vice President Richard M. Nixon of using "verbal garbage" to try to avert a defeat at the polls.

Truman was interviewed by newsmen at the Hotel Theresa in the heart of Harlem. He was accompanied by Gov. Averell Harriman, a candidate for re-election. Rain prevented them from a scheduled campaign swing through Harlem streets.

Talking with newsmen shortly before appearing on a local radio station broadcast from the hotel, Truman made it clear that he and Butler were poles apart on the controversial statement made by the national chairman.

Truman added that he did not believe the southern Democrats would bolt the party over the civil rights issue.

"The South seceded before but they are not going to secede again," he said.

Harriman interrupted to ask Truman: "Wouldn't you agree this problem could have been settled if we had some leadership in the White House."

"Yes, that's right," replied Truman. "We settled this thing in my home state of Missouri and you people have handled it very well here in New York."

No Radicals

Asked about "radicals" in the Democratic party, Truman said there "weren't any. Radicals historically belonged to the Republican party."

Before leaving Wilmington Truman said that a "sound government to the Republicans is the kind of government in which the President makes nice sounds while the Vice President snarls."

He described the administration foreign policy as one of "blunder, bluster and brink of war" and said no political party had "ever promised so much and delivered so little as the Republican party has done in the last 6 years."

Teachers Told: 'Visit Peoples'

Would End 'This Stupid Business Of Race'—Pre-Convention Speaker

Get out and visit the peoples of the world, Miss Elsie Farris told a pre-convention meeting of teachers here Wednesday night, and "we'd be over this stupid business of race."

Miss Farris spoke on "Educational Experiences and Practices Around the World" at a dinner, sponsored by the Nebraska Women's Educational Club and Phi Delta Kappa, which preceded the business sessions of the District 1 convention of the Nebraska State Education Association.

More than 1,000 teachers registered Wednesday at Pershing Municipal Auditorium, headquarters for the convention. Official business begins at 9 a.m. Thursday.

How She Started

Miss Farris, a Long Beach, Calif., lawyer, told how she started off a program of scholarship giving with a gift to a church mission program. Her original idea was to furnish a doctor for the depths of Guatemala.

That scholarship went begging for years, then she channeled her funds into a church-administered educational program but personally saw, by going to Mexico to see the project started, that 6 persons were educated with her first gift.

She urged her audience to meet foreign students in travel. And by inviting the foreign students into local homes when the students attend schools in the U.S., she said, the "integrity" of the American home and freedom can best be demonstrated.

"I loved them," she said of the people she has met in her travels around the world. "They're just like us."

U.N. Second

Miss Farris called the United Nations the second greatest force for good in the world (religion being foremost) and said, "It's a pity we haven't given it some teeth and logical support."

The first general session Thursday morning will feature a well-known lecturer and humorist, Edward McFaul, speaking on "So You Think You're Slipping!" and Miss Farris, discussing "New Challenge in World Revolution." The two speak at a general session at Pershing Memorial Auditorium.

Thursday afternoon sections are divided into secondary and elementary groups of special interest with the two keynote speeches slated for 2 p.m.

HEW Speaker

Elsa Schneider, a specialist for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at Washington, D. C. will speak before a meeting of elementary teachers. Dr. John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corp., will discuss "The New Mood," before the 2 p.m. secondary teacher gathering.

Friday sessions will feature Harrison Wood, commentator and correspondent, and Dr. Merle W. W. Ohlsen, University of Illinois education professor in morning lectures. Afternoon division and sectional meetings will conclude the District 1 meetings, featuring both local and out-of-state educators as speakers and discussion leaders.

Seaton Forecasts GOP To Spring Surprises

Interior Secretary Makes Brief Stop Here During Campaign Tour

By Don Walton

Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, in Lincoln for a hurried overnight stop, happily forecast "some surprises" for confident Democrats across the nation Nov. 4.

Meeting with newsmen in his hotel suite late Wednesday night, the weary Nebraskan (a Hastings publisher), entering the 31st state on a nationwide campaign in behalf of the GOP cause, said Republican chances nationally are "much better" than they were a few weeks ago.

The gracious interior chief, considered a prime prospect for No. 2 man (and in some quarters for the top spot) on the Republican national ticket in 1960, gave much credit for GOP gains to national appearances by Vice President Nixon and, more recently, by President Eisenhower.

Seaton

3 GOP Strong Points

In addition, Seaton said, 3 factors are aiding Republicans in their uphill battle to gain national favor this fall:

—President Eisenhower's "handling of the international situation," specifically in Lebanon and Formosa.

—"the explosive reaction" to the success of the space-probing Pioneer rocket and U.S. atomic-powered submarines which indicate America is "really ahead."

—"the evident recovery from recession," pointed up by a drop of 1,200,000 from the ranks of the unemployed in the past 60 days and a bulging gross national product which prove the administration "knew what it was doing" in combating the recession.

Seaton, 48, one of the President's top advisors from the time he helped spearhead Eisenhower's 1952 drive for nomination and election, arrived in Lincoln by commercial airline from two days of campaigning in Utah.

He noted it was "nice to come home to a haven of Republicanism."

In answer to questions, Seaton:

—dodged interrogation as to whether he was approached by the President on filling the post of presidential assistant vacated by the resignation of Sherman Adams. ("I can't answer that. It involves a confidence with the President. I'm very, very happy Wilton B. Persons got the job. He'll do an excellent job. I've got enough troubles already.") —termed the Kennedy-Ives labor reform bill "an awfully small potato" which "would have fooled the American people" and not accomplished what it said it would.

—called for Rural Electrification Administration interest rates to be raised to a point which would give the federal government a fair return.

Seaton leaves Lincoln Thursday morning for Hastings and a speaking appearance. He moves onto Scottsbluff Friday and into Wyoming the next day on a continuing national tour which will carry him up to election day.

CANDIDATE MEETS PUBLIC

Democrat Larry Brock of Wakefield, who came within a whisker of upsetting Republican Rep. Robert Harrison of Norfolk in 1956, is taking another shot for the Third District congressional seat.

His rugged campaign is based on the farm issue. Brock's efforts to get farmers to look to the recent past and a shaky future instead of being blinded by a bountiful 1958 corn crop hold his chances for victory.

Meanwhile, he must fight charges arising from his endorsement by labor.

For an interpretive account of Brock's campaign, tenth in a series by Star political reporter Don Walton on the state's major candidates, see Page 33.

Radio Beeps Fade

New Moonlet Apparently Strays

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—The Army launched a balloon satellite toward space Wednesday night but apparently failed to put it in orbit.

A statement issued in Washington by the Defense Department and the International Geophysical Year committee 2½ hours after the launching said:

"Radio records received from the satellite instrument package show the performance of the rocket was not normal.

"While the information available is not easily interpreted it is practically certain the experiment was not successful and an orbit was not achieved."

The spectacular launching appeared to be perfect from the ground and the Army said the missile was on its planned course when its first stage burn-out came at the calculated time.

But when the signals were lost 10 seconds before the 2nd stage of the rocket was due to ignite, it was not known what happened to the satellite.

Data Today

The scientists said they did not expect to have further information on the satellite before 8 a.m. EST Thursday.

Detailed examination of all instrumentation data was underway.

This was the 6th attempt by the army to fire its mighty Jupiter-C spaceward.

Three of the previous launchings were completely successful.

The shoot was unique in that an attempt was made to free and inflate the balloon after a 50-inch long cylindrical case was fired into an orbit some 1,500 miles above the earth.

If everything had gone well, the United States would have had the first satellite visible to the naked eye.

Even at maximum altitude, the 12-foot diameter balloon while reflecting the sun would be as bright as the stars in the big dipper.

Plastic

The 9¼ pound balloon, called "Beacon" by the sponsoring National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was made of a tough plastic called mylar with a thin coat of aluminum.

The balloon equipped satellite and its propelling rocket vehicle comprise perhaps the most complex long-range missile ever fired from this testing ground. Four rocket stages had to fire in sequence before the satellite case, weighing 28.6 pounds, was finally hurled into orbit at an 1,800-mile-an-hour speed.

Then, when it had gone half way around the earth, a tiny solid fuel booster rocket in the nose of the satellite was to give the payload what missilemen call "a kick in the apogee." That meant it should boost the satellite far from the earth so that the apogee—the most distant point—of its elliptical orbit would be some 1,500 miles. The perigee—point in orbit nearest the earth—was expected to approximate 400 miles.

—Narrow Escape—

Boy Rescued From Deep Pit

...After 3-Hour Imprisonment

Magnolia, Ark. (AP)—Oilfield workers rescued a 2-year-old boy Wednesday 3 hours after he fell into a narrow hole 11-feet deep. The child was not injured.

Fifty men took turns hand digging a sloping trench that finally joined the bottom of the hole where the boy had been trapped.

A doctor examined little Johnny Carmichael before he was removed from the scene by ambulance and said he apparently had suffered no injuries.

The child fell into the hole —only 14 inches wide—as he walked with his father, E. D. Carmichael, district manager of the Magnolia Oil Co., a few hundred yards behind their rural home, in the oilfield region of south-central Arkansas.

Oilfield crews hurried to the scene and worked in relays digging the rescue trench. The father handpicked the men who did the delicate job of joining the trench and the hole which was dangerous because of a cave-in possibility.

Talks To Boy

While the long job progressed, the child's mother and his brother and sister visited at the scene. Dr. Charles W. Kelly talked to the boy during the rescue operation distracting his attention.

Someone threw the child a package of cigarettes to play with—and he amused himself with it during his long wait.

Occasionally the little boy would whimper in pain because one of his legs was above his head and one below in the narrow space.

A plastic hood was lowered into the hole to provide a roof for him in the event of a cave-in. Oxygen was pumped into the hole.

Lightning Arrester

The hole had been dug by a pipeline crew for a lightning arrester emplacement. Pipeline construction was in progress and Johnny and his father had walked out to inspect the construction.

An oilfield worker, J. W. Henderson, was the one who lifted Johnny out of the hole and handed him into the arms of his mother.

She hugged him tearfully and then gave him to the doctor for an examination.

Formosa Solidarity Is Agreed

Taipei (Thursday) (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek have agreed that their countries must stand together against Red China. The agreement was disclosed in an exchange of toasts at a state dinner.

Thursday they met — while Communist and Nationalist guns dueled heavily in the Quemoy area —in what may be their final talk before Dulles returns to Washington.

The way appeared cleared by 3 days of conferences on the Formosa Strait crisis for a new statement of solidarity. Qualified sources said they did not expect anything spectacular. Dulles warned that U.S. warships may return to escort duty on the supply run to Quemoy if that becomes militarily necessary because of the renewed Communist shelling.

Little or no policy changes are expected in view of a continuing gap on certain points. These include the U.S. view that the Nationalists could reduce garrisons on the offshore islands if the Communists quit shooting.

Cordial

The atmosphere, aides said, was most cordial.

Nationalist quarters expressed surprise at rumors of a rift between Chiang and Dulles. They described such rumors as ill-founded speculation.

Both Nationalist and American sources said that when Dulles arrived Tuesday he made clear his consultations were "not aimed at reaching any new agreements" but "... further to consolidate a relationship of mutual trust and confidence which is of immense value to all of the free world."

They said it should be obvious from the statements made by Chiang and Dulles at the dinner Chiang gave for the secretary that this objective had been attained.

Chiang described Dulles as an "inexorable and uncompromising antagonist to communism and to its evil accompaniment of aggression and conquest by force" — and as a staunch and loyal friend.

3 Nebraskan Columnists Argue, Quit

Three columnists of the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the University of Nebraska, have resigned over a squabble concerning whether they could criticize the paper in print, Ernest Hines of Lincoln, editor, said Wednesday.

Hines said he had forbidden criticism of the paper within its columns.

"No newspaper on earth would allow one of its columnists to attack the integrity of the paper," Hines said.

The resignations were precipitated by the Nebraskan's policy of opposition toward a Student Tribunal at the University.

Columnist Basoco, who favors the Tribunal, was told he could write in support of the Tribunal but not attack the Nebraskan in the process, Hines said.

In a statement, the 3 columnists said, "We are forced to tender our resignations as columnists of this alleged newspaper due to treatment which one of our number has received at the hands of the alleged editor."

Columnists on the Nebraskan are unpaid positions filled by the editor and are not under the jurisdiction of the student-faculty Publications Board.

Reds Hold U.S. Tourist As Captive

..New Recognition Bid

Berlin (UPI) — East German Communists held an American tourist captive Wednesday in an apparent new bid to force U.S. diplomatic recognition of the Soviet zone government.

The U.S. State Department mission here announced that George S. Milroy, 29, of Ann Arbor, Mich., had been arrested while driving through East Germany en route from Copenhagen to West Berlin.

The Communists accused Milroy with illegally photographing a Soviet military installation, U.S. officials said. Milroy denied the charge.

The State Department demanded Milroy's release in a note to the Soviet political adviser in East Berlin, but received no reply.

Outside Jurisdiction

An East German foreign office spokesman said the incident was outside Soviet jurisdiction.

"I think," he said, "the Americans know the organs of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) they have to deal with in this sort of situation.

"There have been similar cases in the past and we have made our position clear on them."

580 Voters Register As 1 Night Left

Of the total 273 of the registrations were filed between 4:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. This period is the extra time added to the ordinary closing time of 5 p.m. to accommodate those unable to appear at the office during the regular hours.

Thursday is the last day the office will be open until 9 a.m. Friday, the last day for registering, the office will be open until 5 p.m.

According to Election Commissioner Anna Evans, 368 of Wednesday's registrations were new ones and 212 changes of addresses.

Gas War Hits Rest Of Lincoln

Lincoln's gas war had spread Wednesday night to most stations in the city.

Free Pickup Of Leaves Suggested

A proposal that leaves be hauled away by the street department without charge to property owners has been renewed to the City Council.

Councilman Pat Ash suggested a plan for the "pickup service by designated areas" could be worked out.

He said the city has the most modern equipment today in its history and such service would "create good will for the citizens."

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson and Street Supt. Lynn Myers have been asked to study the proposal. A report is expected next Monday.

However, one city official noted a removal plan had been tried before, but without too much success.

Rabies Shots Give 3-Year Protection

Most of the nearly 2,000 dogs innoculated against rabies at a vaccination clinic sponsored by the Cornhusker Kennel Club will be protected from the disease for 3 years according to Ed Hollister, president of the club.

Hollister said the shots are approved by the World Health Organization as being effective for 3 years. It had previously been reported that the shots were good for only one year.

The club president noted that the shots given to very young puppies were the only ones that have to be renewed next year.

Lincoln veterinarians administered the shots, and expenses of about $1,000 for serum and other items were paid by the Club, Hollister said.

School Head Is Pleased At Little Rock

Little Rock, Ark. (UPI) — The superinendent of Little Rock's private, segregated schools looked over the first day of classes and was pleased with what he saw.

"Everything's going fine and according to schedule," said W. C. Brashears as more than 230 students from the city's 3 white high schools broke 8 weeks of scholastic idleness.

Brashears said, however, he needed additional buildings and 25 or 30 more teachers before he could get the 10th and 11th graders in classes.

Heavy Industry Zoning For Proposed Grain Storage Site Approved

By Virgil Falloon

The City Planning Commission Wednesday approved heavy industry zoning for a 22.7-acre tract adjoining a 70-acre industrial site at the U.S. Hwy 6 and city route cutoff east of Havelock.

The location is proposed for another 6 or 7-million bushel terminal elevator of the C-G-F Grain Co., Topeka, Kan., according to a Burlington Railroad representative.

W. A. Spitzenberger of Omaha, CB&Q industrial and agricultural development agent, said approximately the south 50 acres of the area, with the necessary trackage, would be used for grain storage.

C-G-F Grain presently operates a 14-million bushel grain elevator on a 17-acre tract at 33rd and Adams.

The railroad owns the present 70-acre industrial tract and has the additional acreage under purchase from from Frederick G. Retzlaff, Spitzenberger said. Recent soil tests indicated this site over another under consideration he added.

Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden recommended the zoning request as a reasonable extension of the already-zoned industrial area.

A C-G-F official in Lincoln described the company's plans as "indefinite" when asked for comment.

In other recommendations to the City Council, the Commission urged denial of local business zoning for two lots fronting on the east side of 48th between Calvert and Hillside and a portion of a third lot adjoining the rear of the frontage.

The zoning request was made for a proposed large grocery and parking area near the College View business district.

In denying the proposal by a 4-1 vote the commission said it felt the change would lead to strip zoning along 48th and would congest traffic. The board said it felt there was sufficient land already zoned.

Approved was a special use permit for construction of a 3-stall garage on residential-zoned property to the rear of Williams Nursery at 1742 No. 48th.

The request of the Abel Investment Co. for heavy industrial zoning of an 80-acre tract adjoining the eastern edge of Union Airport was postponed indefinitely.

The planning engineer's report recommended denial of heavy industrial zoning as a "serious hazard to aircraft" as there would be no height limit in the land's use.

Otherwise, he said, the tract is satisfactorily located for industrial purposes.

'Gas-Lunch Stop Areas Needed On Interstate'

One or more gas-and-lunch-stop areas are needed on the Interstate Highway near Lincoln but facilities for those halting for longer are already available on the Highway 6 bypass north of the city.

Eldridge Lovelace of Harland Bartholomew & Associates reported these tentative conclusions, based on a land-use study nearing completion, to the City Planning Commission Wednesday.

The planning consultant said traffic, wishing to bypass the city but making longer or overnight stops, "reasonably would use" the facilities along the Cornhusker Highway.

Gas, Lunch Stops

However, he pointed out that "through traffic," making only gas or lunch stops, should be provided facilities closer to the Interstate.

He said one to 3 small "service areas," including service station and restaurant facilities, but probably not motel accommodations, should be strategically-zoned as close to the Interstate Highway as possible at departure points.

It would be desirable to locate these "service" points within a quarter-mile of Interstate interchanges or departure points.

Traffic destined for Lincoln or desiring to make longer stops would travel into the city on proposed access routes, he said.

Lovelace said the final report with accompanying study data would be ready for the Commission within a month.

The next study suggested by Lovelace would survey the effect of the Interstate on industrial sites and potential land use.

Like A Railroad

The Interstate "will be comparable to a railroad," Lovelace said, in urging "planned industrial sites" near its route.

Asked for his views on suburban sidewalk policy, Lovelace told the Commission that he favored sidewalks on both sides of the street.

However, he suggested such policy should also include:

Better Financing

—A better financing method, perhaps as part of street paving projects, or by assessment district rather than individual properties.

—A more flexible view of sidewalk locations, especially when ordered into already established residential areas, to overcome grade, landscaping and other problems.

—More equitable assessment between both sides of the street if the walk is established only on one side.

$6,700 Stolen From State Hospital Safe

About $6,700 in cash, government bonds and checks was reported stolen late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning in a safe burglary at the Lincoln State Hospital.

Dep. Sheriff Del Zieman said the take included about $947 in cash, $1,100 in bonds and $4,555 in checks. He said the intruder is believed to have pried open an air duct leading to the basement of the temporary administration building to gain entrance to the premises.

Zieman said the safe, which was locked the night before but was found standing open, was either opened by a person knowing the combination or more likely by someone who was successful in manipulating the dial. The safe showed no signs of forced entry, he said.

Fire Damages Attic Of Garage

Fire of an undetermined origin caused considerable damage to the attic of a garage at 1424 Garfield early Wednesday evening.

The roof and most of the upper story of a two-story section of a garage was burned. Fire investigators will continue investigation Thursday into the cause of the blaze.

Reds Refuse To Grant Passage To Cardinal

... Will Not Attend Papal Conclave

Vienna (AP)—Red-ruled Hungary has rejected an American request to let Josef Cardinal Mindszenty go to Vatican City for the Papal election.

The disclosure by U.S. Charge D'Affaires Garret Ackerson at Budapest said the U.S. government asked for safe conduct for the cardinal through Hungary.

He took asylum in the Budapest Embassy during the 1956 Hungarian revolt and has been there ever since.

Secretary of State Dulles, now on Formosa, attended final rites for the late Pope Pius XII at the Vatican last Sunday as one of President Eisenhower's 3 personal representatives. Dulles presumably interceded for Cardinal Mindszentry.

'Deemed Traitor'

Budapest Radio said the cardinal had been deemed a traitor and said the American appeal was a fresh attempt to interfere in Hungarian internal affairs.

Ackerson said the Hungarian Communist foreign ministry handed him a note branding as "gross interference in Hungarian domestic affairs" the American request for safe conduct for the cardinal to attend the conclave of Cardinals to elect a new pope.

For Vatican

The only representative from behind the Iron curtain will be Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland.

A Harvest At Hand

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Nebraska's bountiful harvest is well under way, at the halfway mark on the average and even beyond that in some areas. Fields once rich with fat ears of corn are being stripped of their food. And row after row of sorghum is being gathered for a later day of need.

Out in the fields, the rabbits jump along in front of the mechanical picker. The big jack goes loping off with the air of one who owns the whole countryside. The picker is making the manual laborer look like a real has-been, and he is, in fact. The fast fellow who could pick up to 100 bushels a day can't hold a candle to the machine which might be handling 10 times that much. Last year at this time, it was so wet in the fields that the harvest had scarcely begun. There were grave fears that a great part of the corn would be lost from rot.

Hand-Picking Past History

But this has been just about an ideal year for corn, moisture when needed and good drying days when needed. There should be a great many 100-to-125-bushel-per-acre yields of corn this year. There is nothing, perhaps, any more impressive than the fall harvest.

When one thinks about it, it doesn't take much to understand how and why the early settlers established what is now our national holiday of Thanksgiving. Unfortunately, we too often can see only the dark side of things, the farm products surplus and the plight of farmers when the prices for their goods decline.

These things can hardly be ignored, of course, as they are reality but they do cause us to turn our backs on good fortune. The present world population is about 2,700,000,000 people. About two-thirds of this population, some 2,000,000,000 people, are seriously undernourished.

By the end of the present century, the world's population is expected to nearly double. Yet, in the midst of this want and suffering, food is plentiful in America and our greatest concern is how we are going to dispose of everything we can produce for the table. The 175,000,000 people of the United States today do not know the meaning of a food shortage.

Yes, there are those in America who are poverty-stricken and who do not earn enough money to take part in this table of plenty but that is another and different problem. It is something we could never forget and a sharp needle in our pride but it is a question of economics rather than agriculture.

It does not destroy the fact that only a short time ago, Nebraska and other states cut for the market place record yields of wheat, have had one cutting after another of rich alfalfa, are bulging with sorghums and soybeans, are now filling their farm bins with corn and have a growth of winter wheat on the way.

It does not destroy the fact that even a drought cannot leave us destitute. It can bring hardship and suffering but we can still call upon our underground water resources and vast surface storage areas to provide at least enough moisture to get us by. Hunger as a condition of crop failures is all but a forgotten memory in the United States. Not another part of the entire world can match our progress in agriculture. In quantity we are first and in quality we need to take a back seat to none.

Reserve For Lean Years

But soon the countryside will be quiet and the fields will lie bare until the spring. It will leave us free to concentrate on the high price of bread in the grocery store and the price of wheat in the market place. A strange thing — we get what billions want and then don't know what to do with it.

Education In Spotlight

Some 4,000 teachers from District 1 of the Nebraska State Education Association are now in Lincoln to look themselves and their profession over. Perhaps never before in the history of these meetings have those in attendance found the public with such an interest in the affairs of education as is the case today.

The interest stems primarily from doubts that have crept into the mind of people as to the over-all caliber of our educational system. The public is looking for some form of assurance that the things we are doing in the classrooms today are the things that will leave us prepared to meet the challenges we will face in the world in the years ahead.

With the social, scientific and political upheavals which are so widespread and prominent at this time, it is only natural that we ask ourselves if we are being properly prepared to cope with the eventual results of these upheavals. A great many of the changes which are taking place today will not have their full effect for another decade or perhaps two. Thus, it is the children in school today who will eventually have to deal with conditions to stem from the new concepts gaining prominence at this time.

Quite naturally, the teachers will be concerned with such issues as salaries, quality and quantity of teachers and other immediate and practical problems. But many of them will also be trying to foresee the results of our current efforts in the classrooms and the general direction in which education is headed. The teachers are welcomed to Lincoln as a symbol of the backbone of our very way of life.

Says They'll Go For It

The Wall Street Journal is predicting that corn farmers this year will reject acreage quotas and the higher support prices, preferring, instead, Secretary Benson's proposal that they grow all the corn they wish in 1959 protected by a price floor of 65 per cent of parity.

In the long range, the Benson proposal really asks the corn farmer to abandon the principal of parity and trust to the open market, averaged out for three previous years, for the pricing of his product.

The Journal may not be too far wrong. Even more rigorous acreage limitations next year at support prices already insufficient to warrant agricultural confidence combines as a powerful force in the direction Secretary Benson is indicating. Moreover the short term fact that market price averages in effect next year will be based on three years of past prices, buoyed by parity price supports, indicates not a great deal of falling away from present price guarantees.

But farm thinking dwelling on ultimate consequences will be made pensive by the offer. In the first place the proposal means that the government intends to get rid of the responsibility for over-production, and that the producing farmer is going to be the receiver. It also means that after three years the average market price will be based on demand and in the instance of continuing surpluses the price will plummet. It further means, with the disappearance of the parity principle, the corn producer will have thrown away his life jacket. He would be better off to reduce his production now at a better price based on parity than to find himself forced to do the same thing later under calamitous price conditions.

The prospect becomes more formidable when it is realized that land values, open market prices, and price supports all hang by the single thread of the parity principle.

But the Wall Street Journal believes the question will be decided on the basis of a one or two year expedient rather than on long range evaluation.

Not So Fast, There

The Commodity Credit Corporation is considering dropping the phrase "by rail" from its formula which sets the loan basis for small grains, and thereby hangs a tale of interest and significance to Nebraska.

The CCC practice is to establish a loan rate for a state at its grain terminal, and reducing that rate in proportion to the freight charges as the distance from source to terminal increases. For instance a wheat grower in Perkins County in western Nebraska, on the basis of a Nebraska support rate of $2, could get the full $2 if he shipped his grain by rail to Omaha, which is terminal for Nebraska. But if he delivered it to Perkins County he would probably get $1.75, the freight differential being deducted.

The change under consideration would allow in line shipment of the grain by any means to any point with the CCC picking up the tab for the freight charge so long as it would not exceed what the railroad would charge.

At first view it would appear to be about six one way, a half dozen the other to the grain grower, serving mainly to open grain shipments to all comers instead of keying it to rail transportation.

Under ordinary circumstances not much of a case could be made against equal and open opportunity, giving the farm truck operator or the commercial trucker as good a break as the railroads. But this case does not come within those metes and bounds.

Nebraska moves between 30 and 40 million bushels of wheat and sorghums to its terminal in a few weeks every season, a task that would require something like 1,000 truck loadings a day.

The first question is where are that many trucks readily available for a few days a year for that purpose?

The second question is what would become of so many Nebraska branch lines which currently are held in service mainly because of grain movement by rail?

A third question goes deeper. The thousands of freight cars are the mobile storage that give fluidity to the annual harvest. No state has the fieldside capacity to receive and hold the new crop. What guarantee would the nation have of getting its harvest into the foodstream without them.

In the long range a CCC venture into a no-holds-barred condition in the movement of grain might laudibly broaden opportunity, but until adequate and dependable means of moving the product can be demonstrated the plan seems premature.

Senator's Son In Doubtful Role

WASHINGTON — This column has been probing behind the political posters for a closer look at some of the candidates running for high office. Among those scrutinized have been Arthur McGonigle, GOP candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, whose rise to be a pretzel magnate is not the American success story he makes it out to be; also his running mate for the Senate, Congressman Hugh Scott, who accepted $2,000 to get a pardon for Nicholas Marcello, then introduced a private bill to admit Marcello to the U.S.A.

Today's subject is a Democrat, Sen. Dennis Chavez, now campaigning for reelection in New Mexico. Chavez, a likable liberal senator, has a weakness for long cigars and firewater. He also has a weakness for coddling his playboy son, Dennis Jr., at the taxpayers' expense.

More than once, the senator has authorized his son to draw government funds for personal use. During one interesting week in Madrid, Dennis Jr. withdrew around $3,000 in Spanish pesetas from the American embassy and blew much of it in night clubs.

"I am still keeping other blank receipts as I have not completely settled all the bills incurred by Dennis Chavez Jr.," reported Marcelle Lecomte in a confidential message from our Paris embassy to the State Department after young Chavez passed through Paris in 1955.

Senator Chavez had appointed his prodigal son to the appropriations committee staff during his European trip and authorized him to sign vouchers for government counterpart funds.

More recently, young Dennis has been helping the Haas-Dodson Company wangle a contract to supply desks, bookcases and tables for senators' offices. His father happens to be in charge of building and furnishing the new Senate Office Building which will be opened in January.

When other senators heard that Dennis Jr. was seeking the furniture contract for Haas-Dodson, they insisted upon inviting bids.

"We don't want a scandal in the Senate," warned Sen. George Malone, Nevada Republican, at a closed-door meeting of the Senate Office Building Commission. "Everyone in the country, who is qualified, should be allowed to bid."

A majority of the commission, both Democrats and Republicans, agreed that the furniture contract should go to the lowest bidder. This turned out to be Stern Office Furniture, not Haas-Dodson. Yet young Dennis's friends still got the contract—at an extra cost to the taxpayers of over $14,000.

After bids were ordered, Chairman Chavez tried to influence the outcome by barring some bidders from displaying samples. Yet despite the fact that Stern Office Furniture was literally locked out of the display rooms in the new Senate Office Building, it won the bidding with a low offer of $61,300. The Haas-Dodson bid was $75,500.

Party Chieftains Are Full Of Woes

WASHINGTON — It cannot be claimed for two gentlemen whose names, faces and remarks are prominent in the news of the campaign that they are elevating the public dialogue.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn has adopted a party line which is arousing precisely those Democrats upon whom President Eisenhower must depend in important ways during the next Congress. Alcorn even persuaded the President to adopt it, though it is so out of character Eisenhower is not very convincing in the role.

Alcorn's opposite number, Democrat Paul Butler, keeps busy reading Southern Democrats out of the party, and they form his irritated public, limited as it may be elsewhere.

Butler is, of course, answering Alcorn's taunts about Little Rock and it may be, too, that he feels he is helping the Democratic candidates of the North and West to whom minorities are so important. That Butler is sincerely devoted to civil rights cannot be questioned and it is probable that Alcorn believes that New Dealers are no better than socialists.

Both chairmen actually are struggling with impossible jobs. Their parties are split and their committees are broke. They are the handiest scapegoats for everybody, since Eisenhower enjoys presidential immunity from personal criticism and Harry S. Truman is soaring to the pantheon of Democratic heroes with a speed which must amaze even his loyal wife and daughter.

He was even handed by the President one of the really dirty jobs of the administration, which was to tell his fellow graduate of Dartmouth, Sherman Adams, that he had to go. The President yielded to Republican pleas on that score after the Maine debacle but declined to wield the axe himself.

Chairman Butler must be given credit for excellence in one job important to Democrats. This was his reply for his party to the Sherman Adams telecast farewell. It was absolutely necessary that Democratic comment stick to the point with force and clarity but be sporting and humane as well. Butler achieved it all and brevity as well. It was one of the few distinguished performances of the campaign.

Alcorn looks like the loser Nov. 4. If it is any consolation to him, Butler's troubles will then mount as North-South tension accumulates in Congress and the heady prospect of renewed control of the White House begins to excite the national ambitions of every Democratic officeholder above the rank of county coroner.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

An Orphan Of The Storm

By HAL HASSELBALCH
Star Staff Writer

In the midst of a wild Newfoundland blizzard with 60-mile-an-hour winds whipping snow into soft white mountains, a tiny, hungry, skinny animal plodded to shelter offered by the porch of an Air Force house.

There he was discovered by Mrs. Raymond Normandin. Taken in and nursed to health, Tippy, as his name turned out to be, became recipient and donor of boundless affection.

After several weeks with the Normandins, a garbage man on his rounds saw the tiny mongrel and reported the fact to the family whom he knew to be the original owners.

When the owner and his six children trooped to the dog's side, Mrs. Normandin offered no resistance to the claims of the impoverished family. But the father of the six offered a bargain.

If, after the dog was home for two weeks, he decided to come back to the Normandins, they could buy him for $5.

Within days Tippy was again on the porch of Normandin's house, a piece of gnawed rope attached to his collar. The ransom was paid.

"He looks awfully thin," Mrs. Normandin remarked during negotiations, "have you been feeding him?"

"Certainly," was the reply, "he gets plenty of peanut butter and bread."

All went well for a time, then it was noticed that Tippy stayed away one day out of each week. No amount of attention seemed to deter the white-footed pet from his weekly wandering.

Eventually it was discovered that out of deference to his former playmates, Tippy was taking the day to visit his former home. Significantly the stay was never more than a day.

Then came the transfer back to United States. It looked as if the time of troubles had ceased for Tippy. But it turned out to be one of the harrowing experiences of his life.

A sturdy crate was built for him by admiring Air Force personnel. Tippy knew that no good could come from allowing himself to be caged. It took the detached shove of an outsider to force Tippy into his mobile prison.

☆ ☆ ☆

The exit barred, Tippy was hustled aboard a plane destined for Springfield, Mass.

MRS. NORMANDIN and TIPPY
. . . from peanut butter to beef hearts . . .

Days later attempts at reunion were stalled by government and express company red tape.

Mrs. Normandin pleaded for custody of her pet, but the agent was firm. The dog would not be released until officials checked to see if Tippy had his rabies shot. And that would not be possible until Monday, two days later.

In desperation, Mrs. Normandin sobbed her story to officials and won Tippy's release from his dirty, wet cage. So terrifying was the ordeal that Tippy did not eat for 30 days.

Since then he has traveled to locations from Massachusetts to California and Texas, always on a foot locker in the back seat of the Normandin car. The couple has yet to be denied accommodations at motels on account of their insistance that Tippy live right beside them.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Utica is a fine town and its grange has done some fine work, but in all fairness I feel I must state that there is a misunderstanding in regard to one of their projects up for consideration by the judges for the top national grange award.

The Utica Grange is not responsible for the Seward County Walking Blood Bank. They may have helped further the project in Utica and among their members, but the project was actually thought up, sponsored, and work begun by the Seward Junior Women's Club.

I know nothing about any of the other projects, but in this particular one of which I know the circumstances, I want to give credit where credit is due.

False Economy

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: On the wheel tax issue, I don't think it is wise, even though it is not a scare statement this time, to quote L. N. Ress on how we could lose $500,000 without matching revenue. Mr. Ress' quotes seem to produce much resentment in both rural and urban sectors.

There is such a thing as being tax conservative to the point of false economy. When I was younger, I lived in a village where there was no municipal water system. Many of the people had to carry water for domestic purposes several blocks with buckets. This was during WPA days when they could have had city water service for a very small amount of taxes. The fire insurance rate was terrific. They voted and killed a bond issue for water service to save taxes. After 20 years of back-breaking bucket service and paying more extra fire insurance than they saved in taxes, not to mention being deprived of modern conveniences and facilities, they voted in city water at about the peak period of prices, but they thought they saved some taxes.

They couldn't defeat water services — they only delayed it. I believe there could be a similarity between their water problem and our street improvement program. Today we can salvage some of our streets by resurfacing. Several years from now, with today's and tomorrow's increased traffic load, our streets could be damaged beyond the point of repair.

Those who get properly registered before closing time of the election commissioner's office on Friday, October 24, and get to the polls November 4 before 7:00 p.m., when city balloting must close, can help furnish a sensible solution to our rate of progress.

Bomb Testing

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Early this year, the USSR discontinued their bomb-testing unilaterally. This was a good and welcomed gesture. I presume they anticipated that the other powers might follow suit. Was that the case? No. The U.S. and Britain stepped up their tests on an unprecedented scale. That was their answer to stopping bomb testing.

Now they announce they will stop testing for a year, if Russia does likewise. Russia says she will agree to stop testing on a permanent basis, or at least for three years, notwithstanding that the U.S. has a far lead on her in the number of tests.

The stopping of testing for one year would be meaningless. It would simply mean time to prepare for another series of tests when the year had expired.

The Same Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the preparation of a newly initiated ordinance for a city car owners' wheel tax, the obsolescence factors or antiquated models of the cars to be taxed were either overlooked or ignored.

Under this new proposal, a back-and-forth-to-work jalopy pays the same amount in wheel taxes as the shining new Cadillac that is used mainly for social distractions.

Obviously the same amount of tax on an old car as on a new limousine a block long and almost as wide is an unfair and unequal distribution of the tax burden and therefore unconstitutional.

LEO N. BARTUNEK

Editor's Note: The wheel tax is a tax based on use more than on ability to pay. A practical part of this theory is that the so-called jalopy would do about as much damage as a new Cadillac but most important, the driver of the old jalopy would benefit from improved streets just as much as the Cadillac driver. Traffic jams are just as frustrating to the old jalopy driver as to anyone else and his old jalopy is just as subject to costly repairs and new tires as a result of bad streets as is any other car. As to ability, the man who cannot afford $4 a year for good streets probably should give up his car as his money would be needed more for bread on the table.

Chest Surgeon Hopes For 50-50 Chance In Lung Cancer Study

By Virgil Falloon

Lung cancer is potentially fatal, but a California chest surgeon is hopeful of a "50-50 chance" outlook from a current early-detection study coupled with immediate surgery.

Dr. John D. Steele, chief of surgical services at the Veterans Administration Hospital at San Fernando, said Wednesday the study is being correlated through VA and Armed Forces hospitals.

He was in Lincoln Wednesday conducting a two-day seminar for Lincoln VA Hospital staff members.

The study is based on early detection of nodules, less than a dime in diameter, in the lungs and their immediate removal, he explained.

Detection by X-ray at this stage is "almost accidental," he said, but the "outlook for successful surgery appears more favorable than when a more substantial or advanced growth is discovered."

As the study's chairman, Dr. Steele said its results would be compared with national statistics showing only 5% of lung cancer victims surviving longer than 5 years.

He said it was hoped the "early detection and surgery" study would increase chances to 50% or more.

Asked about the relationship of smoking to lung cancer, Dr. Steele said he "quit 5 years ago" after being a veteran smoker for 30 years. "A lot of surgeons in my field have quit, too," he added.

On another subject in pulmonary diseases, Dr. Steele said the drop in tuberculosis deaths has been "revolutionary" during the past decade.

"Modern drugs, especially streptomycin and insoniazid, often provide the needed cure," he explained.

If the drug is not enough, its use makes successful surgery possible in most cases he said. In about 75% of the surgical cases, removal of the diseased portion is possible. Otherwise, the long-known practice of collapsing the lung is used.

Treatment Shorter

He said tuberculosis cases formerly requiring 18 months to two years hospitalization now are cut down to 9 months, not more than a year.

Because of new treatment methods, shorter stays, staff problems, discard of the "old sunshine and fresh air theory," Dr. Steele said, many of the country's tuberculosis sanitariums are being replaced by tuberculosis units planned as part of general hospitals.

He said less emphasis is being placed on bed rest, meaning that many patients can be treated and follow a modified bed rest program at home after initial hospital service.

Dr. Steele was also speaker at a Wednesday evening dinner meeting for the VA hospital staff and Lincoln physicians.

Kearney Phys. Ed. Building Still No. 1 Project—Spencer

By Betty Person

Nebraska State Normal Board President Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City said that the Board "still considers a new physical education building at Kearney as the number one project in its building program and Peru goes next."

According to Spencer, there was some "misunderstanding" about remarks quoting him Monday as saying the Board "has never established a priority" on the scheduled construction of buildings at Kearney and Peru State Teachers Colleges.

The proposed construction of the physical education building at Kearney and an industrial arts building at Peru has been a source of controversy for the past 15 months.

At its September meeting, the Board approved a report by an educational consultant survey team which listed the Kearney project as the number one building need of the state's 4 normal colleges.

Vic Accepts

Gov. Victor Anderson, who has veto power over expenditure of funds from the state's special building mill levy funds, had told the Board he would accept their recommendations and that he would approve the Kearney building.

At its meeting Monday, the Board approved preliminary architectural plans for the building at Peru. It previously had approved the preliminary plans for the Kearney structure.

Spencer said Tuesday that the Board wants the plans and specifications for each building drawn and approved, but noted that the normal colleges' share of the building funds is not adequate at this time to build the Kearney physical education plant.

Estimates on the building are a little over $1 million. Estimates on the Peru building are a little over $400,000.

Spencer said the Board has enough funds for the Peru building, but will not start its construction.

At Chadron, where he was traveling with the Republican Campaign Caravan, Gov. Anderson told a luncheon gathering of 100 persons that if he is re-elected, he will favor "an increase in the Normal School budgets for the coming two years, with which we can increase salaries for professors and the teaching staffs."

September Chick Output Tops '57

Nebraska hatcheries produced an estimated 150,000 chicks during September, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said.

The hatch compares with 99,000 in September of last year and a 5-year (1952-56) September average of 158,000.

State Bankers Assn. Names Kellogg Center Committees

Six committees to blanket the state of Nebraska have been established by the Nebraska Bankers Assn. to raise money from each member bank for the proposed $2.6 million Kellogg Center at the University of Nebraska, Otto Kotouc Sr., of Humboldt announced Thursday in Lincoln.

The chairman of the Humboldt State Bank, who is overall chairman of the Association's Kellogg Center Committee, listed the following committees and their members:

Group One—Ralph E. Misko, president, First National Bank, York; Earl H. Wilkins, president, Geneva State Bank, Geneva; and John D. Stocker, president, Otoe County National Bank, Nebraska City.

Group Two—Chase Neumann, president, Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Oakland; E. M. Black, executive vice president and cashier, First National Bank, Fullerton; and Fred W. Wagner, president, Farmers State Bank, Ithaca.

Group 3—H. L. Gerhart, president, First National Bank, Newman Grove; N. T. Tiemann, president, Commercial State Bank, Wausa; and Roger S. Thorley, president, Commercial National Bank, Ainsworth.

Group 4—William Kort, executive vice president, Commercial Bank, Blue Hill; Thomas J. Waldo, executive vice president and cashier, Republican Valley Bank, Orleans; and M. R. Morgan, president, First National Bank, Elwood.

Group 5—J. W. Poynter, executive vice president, First National Bank, Kearney; Edward Huwaldt, president, Commercial National Bank, Grand Island; and O. W. Johnson, president, Bank of Burwell, Burwell.

Group 6—H. D. Kosman, president, Scottsbluff National Bank, Scottsbluff; H. A. Dale, vice president, Stockmen's National Bank, Rushville; and H. L. Carlson, president, Deuel County State Bank, Chappell.

Contributions will be sought from all Nebraska banks, except Lincoln and Omaha banks which are making individual contributions.

The University of Nebraska's share of the proposed center of continuing education is $1.1 million. Another $1.5 million will be added by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin announced earlier that more than $500,000 has been raised by voluntary contributions toward meeting the Nebraska quota.

Datatron 'Brain' Studied

By pushing a button on this device, Purdue University students can have their classes scheduled for them automatically. Nebraskans examining the Datatron during the annual meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions at Purdue are: Dr. B. N. Greenberg of York, Board of Regents member, (second from left) and E. A. Larson of Lincoln, secretary of the Board of Education of the State Normal Schools, (second from right.) Also pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. James of Wilmington, Del., and James Blakesley of Purdue University, who is in charge of the Datatron.

Farm Shelter Federal Funds 'Unlikely'

Doubt has been expressed by Deputy State Civil Defense Director Austin Bacon that the federal government will ever provide public funds to finance farm shelters for humans and livestock.

Recent reports from Washington have indicated the National Advisory Council on Rural Civil Defense has recommended that the government explore such possibilities.

Bacon said the government already has decided not to embark on a program of constructing public shelters wherein the government picks up the tab for the total cost.

However, Bacon said it has never been decided what action the government would take if communities would supply matching funds for construction of public shelters.

He said present policy calls for any federal matching funds to be used in a community's overall civil defense organization.

Federal funds for constructing shelters for livestock and humans would be considered expenditures for private purposes, he said, and therefore unlawful.

"Shelters for livestock on some of these western Nebraska ranches would require acres and acres of space."

Bacon said the old fashioned cyclone cellars, covered with at least 3 feet of dirt, provide the "best protection against fall-out radiation."

V.P. Warns Of Runaway Inflation If Demos Win

Providence, R.I. (AP) — Vice President Nixon said the nation may pay the price of runaway inflation if it gives "radical" Democrats the balance of power in Congress.

Pounding away on the theme that Americans never had it better economically, Nixon raised the specter of cost-of-living increases in a windup talk at the end of a day of campaigning for GOP candidates in Connecticut, Vermont and Rhode Island.

In appearances at Hartford, Conn., and Burlington, Vt., the Vice President bid for support of Democrats and independent voters. He said he thinks many of them agree that the 6 years of the Eisenhower administration have been the rest of their lives.

But in a talk for a party rally here he drew a line against the "radical" Democrats he said will take over if Republican Senate and House candidates are defeated in the North and the West.

'Inherited'

Nixon contended that the Eisenhower administration has managed to curb "the runaway inflation it inherited from the Democratic party."

"This administration may well find it impossible to keep these curbs if the Democrats from the free-spending wing of the party — the radical group from the North and East — seize control of Congress and are able to overwhelm the moderate forces of the Reoublican party and the southern Democrats," he said.

Nixon said that "dollars soaring into the stratesphere can be as damaging as missiles coming from outer space."

"There will be tens of millions of Americans who will be forgotten men and women if we get another round of runaway inflation which a Congress dominated by radicals will inevitably bring about" he said.

In his campaign appearances in Hartford and Burlington, Nixon sounded the theme that the Eisenhower administration has preserved the peace and has "provided honest government and the climate under which we can have progress."

GOP Kennedy-Ives Bill 'Smear' Cited By McGinley

Lincoln Star Special

Ogallala, Neb.—"It is almost unbelievable the extent to which Nebraska Republicans have gone in an irresponsible attempt to smear the facts surrounding the Kennedy-Ives labor reform bill," Democratic congressional candidate Don McGinley said.

The rancher-attorney, his party's nominee for the Fourth District seat now held by Rep. A. L. Miller, said, "The Nebraska GOP, in carrying out its orders from upstairs on the big-scare and big-lie campaign, is either very uninformed, naive or suffering from panic.

"I think the voters should know what Republican Sen. Irving Ives of New York, coauthor of the labor reform bill, has to say about its fate."

McGinley quoted Ives as having said, "My party played blind, partisan politics with the bill. The Republican leadership killed the bill in order to get at Jack Kennedy."

McGinley said that Don Ross, GOP national committeeman from Nebraska, is reported to have said at Chadron that "most Republican senators voted for Kennedy-Ives amendments which would have given union members the right to a secret ballot, a true voice in union affairs, greater control over their own finances and power to recall and expell dishonest union bosses. Most Democrats voted against these amendments."

The truth, McGinley said, is that the Kennedy-Ives bill which passed the Senate, 88-1, contained these provisions.

The legislation "died a GOP death" in the House, McGinley said.

The University of Nebraska reported Wednesday its College of Agriculture meat judging team captured 6th place in the collegiate category of the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Mo.

Team members included Darrel Zessin, Madison; Marvin Sefrna, Dorchester; Lloyd Langemeier, Ithaca; James Ray, Atlantic, Ia.; and Charles Smith, Aurora.

Zessin placed 4th in individual meat judging in the overall contest, the university said.

United Fund Campaign Total Climbs To 78%

Lincoln's Community Chest and Red Cross drive total climbed to 78% of the $598,802 goal Wednesday as a total of $44,309 was added at the eighth report luncheon to bring the drive total to $468,720.

Competition among the 4 employe divisions continued strong as the division generals were tied to a bamboo pole at the luncheon, with only those turning in their quota for the day being released.

Released from the pole Wednesday were acting generals, John Binning, public departments and Jack Trombla, business and professional.

E. N. (Jack) Thompson, Community Chest president, said "the campaign is doing extremely well under very difficult circumstances. We are aware of our losses, and we are making them up.

"We're now like the Yankees were when they were down 3 to one: if we stay in there and pitch, we can make our goal."

Results of the reports Wednesday were as follows.

Industrial an d Automotive, Lee Berkheimer, chairman: $3,709 for a total to date of $49,768 or 76% of a goal of $65,500.

Business and Professional, Charles Thorne, chairman: $7,395 for a total date of $60,915 or 83% of a $73,550 goal.

Foods and Services, Les Rau, chairman: $1,319 for a total to date of $21,342 or 68% toward a goal of $31,250.

Public Departments, Fred Herrington, chairman: $6,708 for a total to date of $60,644 or 80% of a $75,800 goal.

The Women's Division, with Mrs. Carl A. Donaldson as chairman, reported $495 for a total to date of $13,231 or 80% of a $16,600 goal.

Lloyd J. Marti, chairman of the Advance Gifts Division reported $24,683 bringing the division total to $262,819 or 78% of a goal of $336,600.

The invocation for the noon meeting was given by Rabbi Harold I. Stern of Tifereth Israel Synagogue.

The following colonels achieved their goals today: Dwane Demaree, Life Insurance Agencies: Vic Wendelin, Bakeries; Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell and Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry, Women's Division.

Art Donation

London (AP) — A mystery woman left paintings valued at $22,400 at an Australian diplomatic office here in the World War II blitz. She never returned. The pictures now are aboard ship bound for Australia because someone heard her say she wanted the Melbourne gallery to have them eventually. They include works of Constable and Van de Velde.

The Royal Family:

ON MY OWN

By Eleanor Roosevelt

(This is the fourth of a series of twelve articles based on the book, "On My Own—The Years Since the White House" by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, published by Harper & Brothers, New York.)

When I accepted the invitation to go to London in the spring of 1948 for the unveiling of the statue of my husband in Grosvenor Square, I arranged for my secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, to accompany me. But I was worried and I suppose that I was most worried about what I would wear. Queen Elizabeth (now the Queen Mother) always had such a wonderful wardrobe and always looked as if she had just a moment before been in the hands of a skillful maid and hairdresser, as, indeed, she usually had been. When she visited the White House she was accompanied by three maids and there were hardly enough closets to accommodate all her dresses properly.

Dressing For Royalty

I could not travel in much style but as I worried over the problem I realized that I did not have much experience to draw on in deciding what I would need. Clothes had been of very little importance when I visited England during the war. I was flying then and was permitted to take very little luggage. Furthermore, there was no elaborate entertaining during the war and I did not need many changes. Even so, I had been a bit taken aback when I arrived at Buckingham Palace on that trip and was shown my dressing room with huge closets all around the walls. The maid who unpacked my luggage was well trained but I could see that she was surprised when all she could find to hang up in the enormous expanse of wardrobes was one evening dress, one afternoon dress, a few blouses and an extra skirt!

If I was nervous about my visit before I left the United States I was still more nervous after arriving in England and being driven out through the countryside to Windsor. In some ways I rather dreaded the formality of a visit to a castle inhabited by a reigning monarch, but I knew some of my friends, including the Churchills, would be there and, in fact, once I had arrived everything was so interesting that I did not have time to think of my shyness.

A Well-To-Do Home

King George VI and the now Queen Mother Elizabeth were kindness itself. They showed me to my room and sitting room and told me that the King's mother, Queen Mary, was staying over at the castle in order to greet me. During my visit, breakfast was brought to my room but luncheon and dinner were served in the big dining room, and at dinner a Highland piper, wearing the kilt, came in to march once around the table, playing his bagpipes. There was, of course, much formality but I was impressed by the easy manner of the King, dressed during the day in tweed jacket and slacks like a country squire relaxing on the week end, and by the skill of the Queen in keeping their family life on a warm, friendly level even in such a historic setting as Windsor Castle. There were many occasions when I felt that I might have been in almost any well-to-do British or American home. Princess Margaret, for example, had some young friends in and they promptly turned on the phonograph to listen to popular records. I was amused to notice that, like most fathers, the first thing the King said when we came into the room was: "Meg, the music is too loud. Will you please turn it down?"

I was particularly struck by the then Princess Elizabeth, still a young girl at the time of my visit but very serious-minded. She came to me after dinner and said: "I understand you have been to see some of the homes where we are trying to rehabilitate young women offenders. I have not yet been to see them but could you give me your opinion?"

Churchill And The Game

One evening during my visit at Windsor Castle, when Mr. Churchill was there, we played The Game—a form of charades which is also popular in America. Queen Elizabeth acted as a kind of master of ceremonies and chose the words that the rest of us were called upon to act out in such a way that they could be guessed. She puzzled for some time over words that the rest of us were called upon to act out in such w way that they could be some time over various words and occasionally turned to Mr. Churchill for assistance, but without success. The former Prime Minister, with a decoration on the bosom of his stiff white shirt and a cigar in his hand, sat glumly aside and would have nothing to do with The Game, which he obviously regarded as insane and a waste of time for adults. Not even the Queen's pleas for adults. Not even the Queen's pleas for advice could move him to take part in the activities. He just kept on being glum.

ON MY OWN

Mr. Churchill—now Sir Winston—is, of course, one of the very unusual figures of our time. He was frequently at the White House during the tense years of the war and he and Franklin had many interest in common—not so that they ejoyed each other's company. They could talk for hours after dinner on any number of subjects. My husband, however, was so burdened with work that it was a terrible strain on him to sit up late at night with Mr. Churchill after working until 1 or 2 a.m. and then have to be at his desk early the next day while his guest stayed in his room until 11 a.m. I suppose I showed my concern about this at the time and the Prime Minister probably remembered it when on a later occasion in London he said:

"You don't really approve of me, do you, Mrs. Roosevelt?"

She Disapproves

Looking back on it, I don't suppose I really did—though the cigars and the various favorite drinks I had to remember had something to do with it, too, which he doubtless guessed.

I said good by to every one at Windsor Castle on Sunday evening since I was leaving early Monday morning and did not expect to see them again before my departure. But the late Queen Mother did not say good by. Instead, she raised her eyebrows in a question.

"Are not my son and daughter-in-law seeing you in the morning?" she asked in a surprised voice. "I shall see you in any case!"

I protested but, to my horror, the next morning she was up and dressed to perfection, her white hair perfectly waved in a kind of pompadour, and waiting in the big corridor to say good by to me.

And she had made her son, the poor King, get up also to see me off!

I have seen Princess Elizabeth on several occasions since she became Queen. Her but she seems to be more serious, as one might expect her to be under the burden of her duties.

I saw the Queen again for a moment when she and Prince Philip were on their official visit to the United States in 1957. Our meeting big luncheon for her at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and there was no time in the crush to exchange more than a few words. What she did say, however, was to the point—she was very much frustrated because she was having only one day in New York and would not get an opportunity to visit the shops on Fifth Avenue.

(In the fifth article of this series, appearing tomorrow, Mrs. Roosevelt tells of her work with the United Nations.)

Has anyone seen my husband?

I was telling him about my leather coat, and he simply disappeared. I mentioned that I got it at Ben Simon's . . . that it was such a wonderful value . . . and I got lots and lots of "S.H." Green Stamps with it. He seemed surprised. I went on about "S.H." Stamps . . . Nebraska's most popular stamp, with fabulous redemption values! But I think he was gone by then. Say, I wonder . . . there he is! Coming out of Ben Simon's with a suit box and waving "S.H." Green Stamps at me!

'Get-Tougher' Speech By Nixon Seen Here

. . . 6-Hour Stay Outlined

Vice President Richard Nixon, having taken the initiative in leading an increasing Republican assault on Democratic critics, is expected to hike the tempo of his get-tough policy in an address in Lincoln Saturday.

Details of the vice president's 6-hour stay in the city were outlined Wednesday by Lancaster County GOP Chairman Russell Brehm.

Nixon will arrive at Municipal Airport from a speaking appearance in South Dakota at 3 p.m. aboard a chartered, turbo-prop F-27.

9-Car Caravan

He will ride in the lead car (with Gov. Victor Anderson, State Safety Patrol Lt. Al Jensen, a secret service agent and Mrs. Nixon, if she accompanies him to Lincoln) in a 9-car caravan which will leave the airport at 3:15 p.m.

The motorcade will travel Highway 2 to 10th, on 10th to T, T to 9th, down 9th to O, on O to 13th and south to the Cornhusker Hotel where it will arrive at 3:26 p.m., Brehm said.

Nixon will appear at a reception for party workers at the hotel at 4:15 p.m.

7 p.m. Banquet

He will speak at a fund-raising banquet to be held at Pershing Municipal Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

Nixon's address, a half-hour affair, will begin at 8:30.

A full house of 1,600 diners, paying $10 a plate, is expected, Brehm said.

The public will be admitted free to auditorium seats at 7:45 p.m. to hear the vice president's address.

Nixon will leave the auditorium for the airport where he will enplane for Minneapolis.

The vice president's appearance is expected to add further impetus to a brisk GOP state campaign designed to hold onto all major offices in the face of what seems to be a national Democratic trend.

Profits from the dinner will be divided among Republican county organizations according to how many tickets they sell, Brehm said. All profits will stay in Nebraska GOP coffers.

Dress for the dinner Saturday night is informal at the vice president's request.

Welfare Division Asks More

Budget Request Of $41,781,600

The Division of Public Welfare Wednesday reported its 1959-61 budget request totals $41,781,600, an increase of about $2.5 million over the current appropriation with the hike attributed to a jump in federal assistance funds available.

Public Welfare Director Frank M. Woods said the request for state funds, from the property tax-supported general fund, is down about $1.3 million from the current appropriation. A total of $14,198,600 is requested in this category.

The division is seeking an appropriation of $28,400 in cash funds, which concerns the re-appropriation to the division of cash and trust funds it places in the general fund.

A federal increase in assistance allotments is responsible for the $3.8 million hike in appropriations of federal funds. The Division is requesting $27,554,600 in such money for the next biennium, compared with a $23,686,000 appropriation made for the current two years.

Runway Paving Done At Imperial

The State Aeronautics Department received word from the Civil Aeronautics Administration that hard surfacing of the northwest-southeast runway at Imperial was completed.

This means Imperial is now apparently ready for local air service over a route pending in the so-called 7 States Area case, said Rolland Harr, State Aeronautics director.

If the route is granted, Imperial will be tied in for air service with Omaha, Lincoln, Columbus, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, McCook, Sidney, Scottsbluff, Sterling and Denver, Colo.

The only Nebraska community not as yet prepared for service is Columbus, Harr said.

The aeronautics director said it now appeared as if work on Columbus airport improvement plans could not begin this year.

The CAA has Columbus plans currently under scrutiny at its Kansas City regional office.

Central Asks Lincoln To Kansas Route

Washington (AP) — Central Airlines, Inc., made its bid Wednesday for midwest route extensions which the company said, would greatly expand its operations and reduce its federal subsidy.

Central began presentation of its case at a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner's hearing at which other lines are competing for proposed local service routes.

New routes which Central is seeking include Omaha-Wichita via Lincoln and Manhattan and Omaha-Wichita via Lincoln, Manhattan, Salin, Hutchinson and Wichita.

Route extensions and additions sought by central would extend its operations to an area bounded by the north by Omaha, Neb. on the west by Denver, Colo., on the south by Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex., and on the east by Memphis, Tenn., and St. Louis, Mo.

Central's Washington attorney, Robert W. Oliver, said in an opening statement the proposals would treble the line's mileage, increase its traffic 4 times and cut its federal subsidy in half.

Other new routes which Central wants:

Amarillo, Tex.—Oklahoma City, Okla., via Borger, Tex; Fayetteville, Ark.—Tulsa, Okla.; Joplin, Mo.—Tulsa (suspending present Muskogee-Joplin leg); Fayetteville-Tulsa; Kansas City, Mo.-Memphis, Tenn., via Springfield, Mo., and Harrison and Little Rock, Ark. (suspending Delta, Mo.-Springfield leg).

St. Louis-Tulsa via Rolla, Mo., Springfield and Joplin (suspending American Airline's Springfield-Joplin route); Kansas City-Denver via Topeka, Manhattan, Salina, and Goodland, Kan.; Kansas City-Topeka via Parsons, Independence, Coffeyville, Bartlesville and Oklahoma City.

Wichita-Denver via Hutchinson, Great Bend and Colorado Springs; Wichita-Denver via Dodge City, Garden City, Lamar, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver.

Central also asks renewal of a temporary route from Oklahoma City to Enid, Liberal, Guyman, Lamar, Colorado Springs and Denver, adding Pueblo to the line.

Plans Set For Workshop On World Trade

Plans for a workshop to study the effect of world trade on Lincoln and Nebraska were discussed at a meeting of the United Church Women.

Forty-nine churches in Lincoln would participate in the project expected to begin in February, Mrs. Elden Hitz, president of the organization said.

Approximately 250 women attended the meeting which featured 3 speakers.

The Rev. Peter Raible of the Lincoln Unitarian Church spoke on the United Nations and its organizations in a morning session.

Another speaker, Mrs. Lucille White, outlined the 9 proposed amendments to the Nebraska Constitution.

Earlier the group heard Mrs. Norman Shaw urge members to encourage their children to ask for donations to UNICEF instead of "tricks and treats" on Halloween evening.

The East Comes West

Visiting briefly in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. J. Richardson who are the houseguests of Mrs. Richardson's aunt, Mrs. Tracy Pierce.

Mrs. Richardson, who will be remembered as the former Barbara Keith when she attended the University of Nebraska, and her husband are touring the United States and Canada, and will visit in England before returning to Hong Kong to reside. Their marriage took place last July.

The News Around Town

—if we hurry perhaps we'll be able to tell some of the news we have on hand—Miss Holly Hawke, whose marriage to Donald R. Larson of Santa Barbara, Calif., takes place in November, is in the news spotlight this morning because of courtesies planned in her honor.

—included among a new series of prenuptial parties for Miss Hawke is the 10:30 o'clock coffee on Saturday morning when Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau and Mrs. Gates Minnick are hostesses at the home of Mrs. Minnick. Sixteen guests have been invited and the bride-elect will be presented with a party shower.

* * *

—Sunday is the party for which Mrs. Bert Reed will be hostess when she entertains at the Lincoln County Club in courtesy to Miss Hawke.

And a week from this evening, Oct. 30, Miss Hawke will be complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sidles who will be host and hostess at a family dinner.

* * *

—someone told us that Miss Ruth Sheldon of Washington D.C. has been spending a few days in Lincoln this week, and that she leaves today to return to Washington.

New Neighbors In Meadow Lane

EASTBOROUGH

A big week end is in store for Mr. and Mrs. Reg Davies who, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Fullerton, will be leaving this evening for Colorado and the Nebraska-Colorado football game at Boulder on Saturday.

While the Davies are gone their children, Barbie, Kathy, Cindy and Rex, will be entertaining their grandmother, Mrs. Rex Davies, who has just returned to Lincoln from a three-month vacation spent in Sacramento, Calif., with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davies.

We mentioned last week that Capt. and Mrs. Walter Hudkins had been honored at a number of farewell courtesies, and among them was a canape party for which Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Donahue were host and hostess on Saturday evening, Oct. 11.

We were happy to hear that instead of leaving Lincoln this month as had been anticipated, Capt. and Mrs. Hudkins will not be moving until the first of the year due to a change in orders.

A newcomer to the bassinet brigade in Eastborough is Jon Allyn Julien, son of Capt. and Mrs. Robin A. Julien, who was born at Lincoln General Hospital on Wednesday, Oct. 15. Jon has one brother, Robin Charles.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Julien of Greenwood, S.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Norris of Funk are the maternal grandparents. Incidentally, Mrs. Norris is visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter this week.

MEADOW LANE

We really have a lot of introductions to make this morning if we hope to keep up with the influx of new residents in Meadow Lane.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert M. Byrom and their children, two year-old Robert and seven month-old Laura, moved to Lincoln and into their new home at 1045 Lancaster Lane the middle of last month.

A new member of the Byrom family that certainly deserves mention is Tracy, an eight week-old German Shephered puppy, who arrived at the Byrom home just three days ago.

Capt and Mrs. Byrom returned to the United States earlier this year after a two-year tour of duty in Furstenfeldbruck, Germany.

Settling in their home at 7024 Vine this month were Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Littlefair. Younger members of the Littlefair family include Linda Lee who is six years old, Elma Jean, age five, and four month-old Charles.

Also newcomers to Meadow Lane are Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Young and their children, four-year old Ricky and three-year-old Ralph The new address for the Young family is 6955 Y.

'Hasta Manana, Muchachos'

We often have heard that the easiest way to learn a foreign language is to learn it right along with English and if that be the case, then the earnest little pre-schoolers pictured above should be accomplished linguists by the time they enter kindergarten.

Attending their first class in Spanish on Wednesday morning, the 11 pupils—whose version of English is still a bit garbled—concentrate on the Spanish of Mrs. Donald Axberg of the University of Nebraska.

Dear Abby . . .

Out Of His Head!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been crazy about Paul ever since I can remember. He fell off his bicycle and when they carried him to his porch I was there talking to his sister. He reached for my hand and said, "Margaret, I love you." It was plain as day. Now he claims he was unconscious and never said any such a thing. If he WAS really unconscious does it mean anything, or should I forget the whole thing and find somebody else?

MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET: Find a nice fellow who doesn't have to be knocked unconscious to declare his love.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I was somewhat perturbed and annoyed letter in which she states that her grandchildren act as if they were raised in the wilds of Africa. I spent ten years in interior Africa, during which time I had occasion to observe much of the tribal life in various regions. African children do NOT act as Grandma's grandchildren act. They are taught to obey and when a parent speaks, the child acts accordingly and asks no questions. May I suggest that GRANDMA find a more suitable simile.

Sincerely,
"Tshisuabantu"
(Mr. W.M.P.)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my boyfriend who thinks he is a modern Tarzan. He's big and handsome and he knows it. We went swimming almost every day last summer just so he could show off his muscles. When we go bowling he strips down to his tee shirt for the same reason. At parties he challenges everyone there to do more pushups than he. He says he loves me, but instead of saving toward getting married, he is saving toward going to Hollywood so somebody can discover him. Should I break off with him?

JANE

DEAR JANE: Unless you want to be left out on the limb, I suggest that you let "Tarzan" swing through the trees in the jungle alone. Fine a man with both feet on the ground.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter, 13, who does not eat enough to keep her alive. The food is there but she insists she is not hungry. At one time she was quite stout, but she went on a diet and took off thirty pounds. Now she looks like a refugee from a prison camp. At mealtime when I see her picking at her food and shoving it around on her plate I get so made at her I scream. I know I shouldn't but I can't help it. She starts to cry and runs to her room. Can you help me get this child to eat before she puts me in an early grave?

MRS. H.

DEAR MRS. H.: Quit picking on her. Take her to a doctor. Let him tell her what to eat and how much. Ignore her completely at mealtime, if you have to bite your tongue to do it. When you quit nagging her, her appetite will improve.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope

U.S. Sets Off Tripleheader A-Test In Nevada

Atomic Test Site, Nev. (AP)—Three atomic weapons blasted the skies in the 1st tripleheader ever staged by nuclear testers here.

The blasts were set off from anchored balloons at 5:30 a.m., 8:50 a.m. and 3:40 p.m.

The Atomic Energy Commission is rushing to complete its schedule of shots before Oct. 31, date of a proposed ban on atomic tests. Total number of tests in the series has not been announced.

The 1st shot in the new series was the 10th and largest of the series. Its force was rated at more than that of 10,000 tons of TNT. There have been 3 other tests in the series in the same range, but this was slightly more potent. Much larger tests have been made in past years.

The pre-dawn blast from a balloon tethered at 1,500 feet fleetingly turned the heavens a gorgeous gold over several western states. The mushroom cloud soared to 25,000 feet, tinted orange and brown by the rising sun's rays.

The 2nd explosion, also from a 1,500-foot balloon, came in broad daylight. But even so its flash was visible in Las Vegas 90 miles away. Its energy was something less than that of 10,000 tons of TNT.

Both of the morning tests sent shock waves rumbling over the desert. Both were heard in St. George, Utah, 110 miles away.

The 3rd shot was exploded at an elevation of 500 feet. Its power was announced as well below nominal.

All in all, it was one of the busiest days in test site history. Besides the conventional tests—aimed at developing an arsenal of small nuclear weapons—scientists conducted a safety test at 12:30 p.m.

The safety test was held atop a 25-foot wooden tower. No details were given. Such tests are to determine the susceptibility of atomic devices to accidental explosion.

The most shots previously conducted at the site in a single day was two.

Ralph Gerke Not Traffic Fatality

The name of Ralph Gerke, killed Oct. 12, in a one car accident, has been removed from the State Accident Records Bureau traffic fatality roll.

The bureau said Gerke was killed when his truck smashed into a bridge on a stretch of Neb. 27 under construction 10 miles south of Gordon.

The stretch of road was closed to traffic at the time, and therefore the fatality will not be counted.

This brings the state's fatality toll to 264 for the year compared to 235 at this time last year.

Gerke, 54, was from Hemingford.

Pheasant, Quail Hunters' Chances Tops

Prospects of Nebraska's best pheasant hunting in a decade and of the finest quail shooting of modern times are expected to attract a record turnout of hunters when the two upland game bird seasons open Saturday one-half hour before sunrise.

Research data for 1958 shows an increase of 138 per cent over the 1957 pheasant population, which in turn was some better than that of the previous year. The quail population, best of modern times, is approximately 80 per cent greater than the high 1957 level.

Mel Steen, State Game Commission director, said the outlook was very good.

"While cover is heavy, the warm, dry weather we've been having is favorable for harvesting corn and milo, and this should result in better hunting conditions than those experienced last year," he said.

The highest pheasant population, Steen continued, is in Central and Western Nebraska, exclusive of the Sand Hills area, where birds are relatively scarce.

Most Nebraska pheasant hunters know that the birds will be found roosting in medium cover in early morning and late evening, feeding in mid-morning and mid-afternoon, and dusting or loafing in heavier cover during midday.

The pheasant, Steen said, is a very elusive bird which is most efficient in escaping the hunter. He has two characteristic methods of escape—he will run far enough ahead of the hunter to be out of gun range, or he will sit tight and let the gunner walk by at very close range.

Flight, Steen said, is always his last resort. Pheasants will not fly if they can run or hide out. Appreciation of these characteristics will enable the hunt to be conducted on a more productive basis.

Here, however, Steen emphasized, a good bird dog is a most important element. The efficiency of a pointing dog varies markedly with season and weather. Generally, efficiency is quite good in the fall of the year, but there will be days when a dog is virtually helpless in locating birds.

Research indicates that pointing dogs are most effective on days when the temperature is mild or cool, the relative humidity is good, and there is a very slight breeze blowing. Any wide deviation from these conditions reduces a dog's scenting ability.

In anticipation of the tremendous opening week-end crowd, the Game Commission's law enforcement staff will be augmented by special patrols.

The pheasant season continues through Dec. 7 and the entire state is open, with minor exceptions. Bag limit is 3 roosters, possession limit is 9 roosters. All pheasants taken must retain sex identification. Either head or feet must be left on the bird.

Quail shooting continues through Dec. 7 in the Southeast area, through Nov. 23 in the Southcentral and Northeast area, and through Nov. 2 in the North Platte Valley and Northcentral areas.

Bag limit in all areas is 6. Possession limit is 12.

Hunting commences at one half hour before sunrise and ends at sunset. All hunters 16 years of age and over must have a one dollar upland game bird stamp secured to the regular hunting permit.

Confident CU Looks Ahead

By Don Bryant

While Nebraska made final preparations for Colorado Wednesday afternoon, holding some brief contact work, the Buffaloes were trying to get serious about the Cornhuskers.

At least, that's the word from Boulder where Dal Ward is readying his Buffs for the Huskers and knowing full well that Colorado is looking ahead to its Nov. 1 date with Oklahoma.

"All the ingredients are present for a large upset—except that Nebraska doesn't appear strong enough to trip the highly-favored Buffs in their Homecoming game Saturday at Boulder."

Ward, CU's straight-forward coach, looks at the Husker game like this:

"I'm not going to say Nebraska is a great football team. They're not. But neither do I think my ball club has anything to get fat-headed about—not the way they played against Iowa State."

As Harraway points out, though, the Cornhuskers are facing a mighty fine team Saturday.

Colorado is undefeated in 4 games, leads the nation in rushing, has yet to have its first team scored on and has a tremendous pass defense.

Since the Huskers haven't been able to generate much of a ground game this fall, they might want to take to the air against CU.

But against Iowa State, the Buffs on 6 occasions forced Cyclone passers to eat the ball after they had a long time to spot a receiver—but couldn't find an open man.

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, the Huskers had about 5 minutes of contact work Wednesday and spent the rest of the practice polishing.

Three Huskers are definitely not making the trip—Dean Cozine, Dean Flock and Roland McDole—and 3 others—Joe Gacusana, Roger Brede and Bill Tuning—are doubtful participants.

Also, there is the question of No. 2 fullback Carroll Zaruba's availability. He participated in the contact work, but how much he will be able to play won't be known until Saturday.

Outweighed Again

Once again Nebraska will be giving away a large weight advantage when the Huskers tangle with Colorado.

The Buffs hold a bulge in every department: tackle-to-tackle 209-196; line 204-193; backs 195-182 and team 200-189.

Southeast Topples Fumbling Fairbury

14-0 Triumph Third In Row

By Dave Calhoun

Six fumbles and a fellow named Dick Harr plagued the Fairbury Jeffs at the Oval Wednesday night.

The Jeffs dropped a 14-0 decision to Lincoln Southeast as the Knights added another victory to their growing string. It was the 3rd straight win for the Lincoln club as it celebrated homecoming on a happy note.

It was a fumble that set up Southeast's first score and it was Harr who choked off late Jeff threats with a brilliant defensive game at halfback.

It took the Knights just 8 plays to strike pay dirt. With just 5 minutes gone in the game, Jeff Roberts hit Dennie Puelz on the Fairbury 3 and Puelz went into the end zone for a 15-yard touchdown.

Dick Young, Ruthie Chubbuck . . . SE homecoming royalty.

The fumble spell of the Jeffs continued, as the Knights recovered another bobble on a short kickoff. But they couldn't go and after an exchange of downs, Fairbury

OFFERS TO TRADE GALIMORE

Bears' Boss Tickles 49ers

Redwood City, Calif. (AP)—George Halas brought laughter into the San Francisco 49er football camp Wednesday. And, after the rough start they've had, the 49ers can use a yuk or two.

Old Papa Bear George caused the smiles with his offer to trade Chicago's flashy running back Willie Galimore for the 49ers' 8-year veteran Hugh McElhenny.

"Mac isn't up for trade and neither is Galimore," Asst. Coach Red Hickey said Wednesday. "Halas knows as well as everybody else in pro football that you can't trade after the 3rd league game.

"He's just trying to throw a smokescreen up to make people think we've got better material than the Bears have."

Head Coach Frank Albert wasn't talking. He silenced himself after blowing his top when the Bears walloped his club 28-6 in Chicago Oct. 12.

Before that one, Los Angeles humiliated the 49ers 33-3. They squeaked by Philadelphia 30-24 last Sunday, and draw the Bears this Sunday in the home Kezar Stadium.

"Halas is loaded with material and he's trying to get off that spot by talking about trades," spokesman Hickey said.

Halas' argument was that Galimore is just a sophomore in the National Football League, while McElhenny is a tried and true running star.

"Halas knows what the kid can do," Hickey declared. "He's been burning up the league." The slender 21-year-old Negro is the NFL's 4th leading ground gainer with an average of 6.2 yards a carry. He's second in league scoring with 7 touchdowns. McElhenny has scored 4 touchdowns.

Hickey said the 49ers have a tremendous respect for the Bears, but "we're not afraid of them."

He predicted a 49er victory Sunday because "pros don't throw in the sponge because a team beats them once."

Grand Island Rocks Rival Hastings, 34-0

Grand Island — Capitalizing on 5 fumble recoveries and stifling Hastings' offense, Grand Island roared to an easy 34-0 victory over the rival Tigers here Wednesday night. The Islanders upped their season record to 6-0-1, while Hastings is 4-2-1.

The Big 10 Conference game, which gave GI a 2-0-1 East Division mark and eliminated Hastings from any title chance, saw Roger Myers pace the Islander attack with 3 touchdown scampers.

Myers started the scoring in the opening period on a 2-yard plunge, ending a 39-yard drive set up by a Hastings fumble.

Another fumble in the second period, which Hastings dominated, gave Grand Island the ball on its own 23. Myers shook loose from there and went all the way. George Billington's first of 4 placements made it 13-0 at the half.

In the 3rd period, Grand Island recovered another fumble on the Hastings 48, and Ed Richards capped the drive from the 4 on a pitchout from Max Noel. Myers got another later in the period, going 41 yards.

Grand Island	6	7	14	7—34

Grand Island: TD, Myers 3 (2, 77, 41 runs); Richards (4 run); Owens (48 run). EP: Billington 4.

Syracuse Gridder Breaks Leg

KEEPING SCORE

With Al Beebe

Star Sports Staff Writer

Teachers' Convention week comes in handy for giving an opportunity to see some teams I might not otherwise see. This has been an 8-man week. Tuesday night I was at Lawrence, The Star's No. 2 team, and at Ceresco (No. 3) Wednesday night.

If plans materialize, I'll get out to see McCook Red Willow (No. 1) Nov. 7.

Red Willow and Lawrence are corresponding about the possibility of meeting this year, probably Nov. 14. It would be the first game in a home-and-home series, and not a post-season bowl game, banned by the NSAA.

Lawrence is ready to play, and Red Willow has promised a decision soon. Don McKillip at Red Willow is not one to back off from a tough opponent, and if the game does not come forth, he will have valid reasons for not playing.

Both schools figure the two games would draw well each year, and both small schools could use the money. Both would also like to branch out a bit in their scheduling, playing a more representative slate and providing a good trip occasionally.

The game, if it does occur, would certainly help the rating situation considerably, matching Willow's offense against the rugged defense of Lawrence.

Seeing top-rated teams in action does not particularly help as far as the ratings are concerned, since there is no way of knowing whether the team is having a good night or a bad night. The advantages are that you can tell whether the team has any potential at all, but more important, you can check on individual All-State candidates.

Six-man power Eagle must have liked its first taste of 8-man competition last week, despite losing 20-0 to strong Johnson.

Ceryl A. Walker of Arapahoe writes a note thanking us for recognition given the Republican Valley Conference. Alma, Cambridge and Arapahoe are rated 4, 5, 6 this week in Class C. He also mentions my selection of Alma's John Christlieb as "Football Player of the Week."

"All-State last fall as a junior, John is without a doubt greater than ever in this campaign, and has and is playing a coveted role in maintaining Alma's long victory string.

"Firmly entrenched in the opinions of all grid experts out this way, Christlieb is a magnificent bit of bric-a-brac in football gear, and unanimously the circuit fanfare wholeheartedly backs his candidacy in this 1958 season. They welcome any source of competition devised to contest his eligibility for all-state.

"Not only is The Star award to Christlieb a personal tribute, but it is a stirring influx of new blood in the heart of a great boy headed down the stretch, in a valiant effort to nail down a prime honor—all-state—two years in a row."

Scoring notes: Columbus has been scored upon in 4 of its 6 games, each time allowing 13 points . . . Creighton Prep's 60-0 win over CB Abraham Lincoln last week was the widest margin and the highest score in the Inter-City League history . . . Omaha Central's 54 points against Omaha Benson was a school high.

Early Start Gives Ceresco 19-0 Win

By Al Beebe

Ceresco — Unbeaten and highly-rated Ceresco struck for two quick first period touchdowns and then suffered through 3 frustrating quarters to gain a 19-0 8-man football win over tough Exeter here Wednesday night.

Ceresco, mostly on the running of halfbacks Daryl Pearson and Larry Samuelson, put on drives of 65 and 73 yards for the first period scores, with Pearson tallying from the 33 and Samuelson from the one.

But things began to go wrong for Ceresco in the second quarter, starting with an improved Exeter offense, led by Larry Erdkamp, and an equally stiffer defense. Pearson did get loose behind a line of blockers for a 43-yard TD scamper, but a penalty nullified the play.

Penalties and a fumble continued to cause Ceresco trouble in the third period, which also saw Exeter hold Ceresco for downs on the 5.

A 60-yard TD pass from Don Johnson to Byron Almquist was nullified in the final period by a clipping penalty which brought a couple of rabid Ceresco fans onto the field, pushing officials.

Ceresco	12	0	0	7—19

NCAA GOES EASY; DOESN'T DISCIPLINE ANY COLLEGE

Chicago (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Assn's policy-making council Wednesday put away its family whipping rod, but took a couple of stiff pokes at professional sports.

For the first time in 12 meetings since 1954, the council failed to impose any disciplinary action on a NCAA code violator.

But in closing a 3-day session, the council apparently took aim on professional baseball.

It proposed that any college athletic staff member should be considered guilty of "unethical conduct" if compensated for scouting or negotiating in behalf of professional teams.

The council also ruled that any athlete receiving direct or indirect financial aid from a professional sports organization will be ineligible for collegiate athletics.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, cited a Detroit Tigers scholarship program specifically in connection with this action. The Tigers offered financial aid to several Michigan institutions for scholarship awards, presumably to baseball prospects.

Eight institutions still remain under varying degrees of NCAA punishment, including UCLA, Southern California, North Carolina State, Memphis State, University of Wichita, Auburn, Southern Methodist and Seattle University.

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Guard John Wooten and center Terry Smotherman will be missing from Colorado's lineup Saturday when the Buffs battle Nebraska in their homecoming game here, a television affair.

Wooten has a bruised left knee and Smotherman has a sprained right ankle. Both injuries were received in last week's 20-0 victory over Iowa State.

JORDAN OUTPOINTS GASPAR ORTEGA

Long Beach, Calif. (AP)—Don Jordan of Los Angeles earned a crack at the world welterweight championship when he scored a split 12-round decision over Gaspar (Indian) Ortega of Mexico before a socialite crowd in the ballroom of a local hotel.

Referee Frankie Van, under California's 10-point per round system, scored it 116-114 for Jordan and Judge Tommy Hart had it 116-114 for the Los Angeles contender.

To the surprise of most ring experts, and much eyebrow lifting from the plush crowd which paid $25 and $15 for the charity event, Judge Lee Grossman had Ortega in front 115-113.

SOUTHEAST SHUTS OUT FAIRBURY

moved into Knight territory for the first time when Wendall Uldrich sprinted through the line 46 yards to the Southeast 10.

But SE's Chuck Potter foiled the Jeff scoring threat by tossing Bob Galamore for a 4-yard loss at the Knight 9 on 3rd down and a 4th down Jeff pass failed.

In the early moments of the second quarter, the Jeffs knocked at the scoring door again. After a 7-yard run by Al Mapel and two penalties worth 20 yards, Fairbury was on the Knight 25.

A statue of liberty play by Don Corbin moved the ball to the SE 9, but then what had come to be commonplace happened again — the Jeffs dropped the ball for fumble No. 4.

It was Potter, scrappy Knight center, who once again doused the Fairbury scoring fire with a recovery and protected the SE lead at halftime.

During the 3rd period, both teams fought for ground as the offensive action see-sawed back and forth. In the final seconds of that period the Knights took control of the pigskin on the Fairbury 43-yard line and started drive for their final touchdown.

Behind the hard running of Dick Young, the Knights moved to the Jeff 19. Using a side-saddle T formation, Puelz skirted around end on a reverse to the 3 to set up the TD. Young took the handoff from quarterback Jeff Roberts and plunged over right guard for the 6-pointer. Levy converted for the extra point to give the Knights a 14-0 margin.

In desperation, the Jeffs took to the air with 9 minutes left in the game, but Harr's defensive action cut their hopes to pieces. Harr blanketed the intended receivers and broke up 10 straight pass plays, intercepting two of the tosses.

The Knight victory in the Mid-East conference contest put Southeast in a tie with Beatrice for second place. Southeast presently holds a 2-1 record in the loop.

Next Friday night the Knights clash with the Northeast Rockets in an intra-city battle.

Coliseum Best HR Paradise In Majors

New York (AP) — The Los Angeles Coliseum was the favorite home run park of National League batsmen in 1958. But the Dodgers' park was not nearly as vulnerable as was expected early in the season.

A total of 193 homers were hit in the Coliseum. This was well under the big league record of 219 established in Crosley Field, Cincinnati, in 1957.

In fact there were only 9 more homers stroked in the Coliseum than in Kansas City's Municipal Stadium, an Associated Press survey showed. There were 184 circuit blows hit in Municipal Stadium with New York's Yankee Stadium and Boston's Fenway Park next in the American League with 140 each.

No record was maintained of the home runs hit in Los Angeles over the 42-foot left field screen which extended from the 251-foot foul line toward center field. But it is known that 8 homers went into the right field stands, 4 in center and the rest either over the left field screen or into the seats in left center.

The Dodgers walloped 92 in the Coliseum with the other 7 clubs combining for 101. The San Francisco Giants had 27 in the LA ball yard, Pittsburgh had 18, Chicago 13, Milwaukee 12, Philadelphia and St. Louis 11 each and Cincinnati 9.

Kearney fought back and moved the ball to the Alliance 30-yard line. On the next play, Alliance's Ray Hesse grabbed a fumble in the air and raced 70 yards for pay dirt.

Kearney's Bill Nickel broke the ice by scoring the Bearcats first TD on a 55-yard pass-lateral-run play.

Joe Greeno iced the game for Kearney when he ran 57 yards for a 6-pointer in the last period.

Army, Iowa Ratings Endangered By Weekend Football Opponents

By Dick Dunkel

Then shake, pardner, but brace yourself. Worse may be coming.

Army and Iowa, now teetering precariously atop the Dunkel Ratings, appear to be particularly vulnerable this week.

Army (112.7) will take its wallflower end to Pittsburgh (96.7) on Saturday. The rating difference is 16 in the Cadets' favor, but Pitt has lost only to Mich. State and is domineering at home.

Iowa (117.7), co-leader of the Big Ten, meets another of the same in Northwestern (105.3). Although the 6-point difference favors the home standing Hawkeyes, Northwestern is undefeated and has demonstrated that it can score 34 points in a single quarter against Big Ten opposition.

LSU 17 over Florida.

Purdue 7 over Notre Dame.

Oklahoma 33 over Kans. St.

Auburn 25 over Maryland.

Ohio St. even with Wis.

Ole Miss 29 over Arkansas.

The Dunkel system is a continuous index of scoring difference relative to rating of opposition. The higher rating team has won in 75.1% of 949 games, omitting ties, covered to date.

In other big games the pars are:

EAST — Navy 27 over Penn, Syracuse 3 over Penn State, Holy Cross 14 over Boston U., Rutgers 20 over Lehigh, Dartmouth 14 over Harvard.

MIDWEST—Mich. State 12 over Illinois, Colorado 26 over Nebraska, Okla. State 7 over Cincinnati, Michigan 6 over Minnesota.

SOUTH — Clemson 3 over S. Carolina (Thurs.) N. Carolina 13 over Wake Forest, Miss. State 7 over Alabama, Tennessee 3 over Florida State, Duke 10 over N.C. State, Vanderbilt 12 over Virginia, Kentucky 5 over Georgia.

SOUTHWEST— Ga. Tech 12 over SMU, Texas 10 over Rice, Tulsa 12 over North Texas, Baylor 5 over Texas A & M.

FAR WEST — Air Force 29 over Utah, California even with Oregon, Wash. State even with So. Calif., UCLA 4 over Stanford.

Drag Races Set At LAFB Sunday

Some 175 people from Midwestern states are expected to be on hand for drag races Sunday, sponsored by the Lincoln Air Force Auto Club.

Time trials will start at 9:30 a.m. at the Air National Guard Strip and will continue until 2 p.m.

Elimination races will be from 2-5 p.m., and trophies will be given, according to Chris Raven, starter.

National Hot Rod Assn. rules will be enforced.

CLUB PREDICTS FEWER DEER

The club, in an open letter to hunters, offers several reasons.

One is a reduction of the deer herd.

Another is the prevailing dry weather which has resulted in a high potential for damaging prairie fires, said the letter signed by Robert H. McDowell.

Because of the dry weather "we have found that many ranchers have deemed it to their best interest to curtail hunting or to substantially reduce the numbers of hunters accomodated this year," the letter says.

Prospective deer hunters should get permission to make definite arrangements with landowners for an area in which to hunt, the wildlife club feels.

The rifle season for deer is from Nov. 1 through 5.

Clemson Favorite In State Fair Grid Tilt

Columbia, S. C. (AP) — Clemson is a clear favorite to capture the 56th State Fair football game from an in-and-out South Carolina team here this afternoon.

A jam-packed stadium full to overflowing with 45,000 people will watch these ancient rivals battle for state, Atlantic Coast Conference and possible national honors.

Clemson, ranked No. 10 in this week's Associated Press poll and winner of its first 4 games against tough opponents, is a solid touchdown favorite.

Coach Frank Howard's Tigers, a come-from-behind bunch that makes a habit of scoring with seconds left, has beaten Virginia, Maryland and North Caolina in the conference, and Vanderbilt of the Southeastern.

South Carolina, playing Coach Warren Giese's uninspired but solid brand of control, lost to army and North Carolina, beat Georgia and Duke.

The State Fair series ends with next year's game, with the teams meeting on an annual scheduled home-and-home basis thereafter. Since the first game in 1896, Clemson has won 32, lost 20. Three were ties.

The crowd will feature such State dignitaries as Gov. George Bell Timmerman, members of the general assembly, and so on. It is a legal state holiday, and a fall fashion show for the ladies.

On the field, the game will feature Clemson's all-ACC quarterback, Harvey White, halfback George Usry, relief quarterback Lowndes Shingler, and others in a wide-open professional style of play, on one side; and halfbacks Alex Hawkins and King Dixon and their South Carolina crew on the other.

Dulles Tells Chiang U.S. Privileged To Join In Commie Fight

Taipei (AP) — Nationalist China reported Secretary of State Dulles told President Chiang Kai-shek the United States is privileged to be associated with Chiang in fighting Communism.

The Nationalist Information Office issued what it said was the partial text of Dulles' impromptu remarks answering a Chiang toast at a state dinner in Chiang's grass mountain palace outside Taipei.

The dinner was one of the round of Formosa crisis conferences Dulles has held with Chiang since Tuesday.

Chiang spoke at the banquet of the "paramount importance to reaffirm our joint stand of solidarity and resoluteness vis a vis the enemy."

The Information Bureau, which kept silent earlier, was the chief source for what went on at the banquet. It was attended by 64 ranking Nationalists and Americans and the wives of some.

Toasts Ike

This was the bureau's account of the banquet:

Chiang toasted President Eisenhower and told Dulles that "without his (Dulles) perspicacity and perseverance the free world might well be in a sorrier plight today."

Chiang then reminded Dulles that he said in San Francisco last year "we owe it to ourselves, our allies and the Chinese people to do all we can to contribute to the passing" of the Communist regime.

(This was considered significant because Formosa was irritated by Dulles' September statement that Chiang's return to the mainland was hypothetical.)

Dulles, in reply, said Chiang had quoted just one passage from his San Francisco speech but that the statement was not rhetoric on his part but a statement of his real conviction.

He (Dulles) was of the strong belief that human beings all want to be free and however hard oppressed they will try to regain their freedom.

In his San Francisco speech, Dulles was quoted as saying, he mentioned that the Chinese Communist rule on the mainland was not a perpetual regime but a passing phase. The question now is how long this "passing" will take and how it can be hastened.

Election Won't Demoralize —Hartman

Democratic County Clerk candidate Carl Hartman Wednesday denied reported "rumors" that election of a Democratic County Clerk would "demoralize the operations of the office."

He said if elected he has no intention of making changes in office personnel for political reasons. Hartman did not specify who allegedly was circulating the "rumors."

Hartman, who opposes incumbent Republican County Clerk J. B. Morgan, said "if the most efficient employes are to seek jobs in county offices they must not be subject to the vagaries of 'political pressures.'" He said if elected he would first offer jobs to other employes on a seniority and capability basis before hiring new personnel.

Plot Uncovered

Buenos Aires (AP) — Sources close to the government said a Peronist plot against President Arturo Frondizi has been uncovered in Mendoza Province. It is now "well under control," they said.

The information, which could not be officially confirmed, was that Peron himself, from his exile in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, rejected the plan.

Florists Target Of Lienemann

County 1958 personal tax returns of Lincoln florists are the subjects of the latest comparative tax report by Lancaster County Commissioner Del Lienemann.

He said this, his latest and 21st tax report, "is an example of one type of business that has literally ignored the reporting of business inventories properly."

Lienemann listed these examples of "obvious undervaluations" of inventories by florists:

Firm 1, $500
Firm 2, none reported
Firm 3, none reported
Firm 4, none reported
Firm 5, $450
Firm 6, $300
Firm 7, none reported
Firm 8, none reported
Firm 9, $360
Firm 10, $600

Lienemann listed these inventory figures from "acceptable returns:"
Firm 1, $1,575
Firm 2, $1,002
Firm 3, $4,070

Too Tame

Chicago (AP) — President Eisenhower took a look into the space age and suggested that the wilder dreams of science fictioneers may be too tame.

"I think that what we have done in 3 years makes Buck Rogers in the funny papers look funnier," the president told a group of Republican women in a panel broadcast.

Butler Says Demos Angry At Smears Levelled By GOP

Washington (AP) — Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee accused President Eisenhower of campaign name calling and said the Democrats are indignant.

Butler said Vice President Nixon has been using ugly language and that GOP national Chairman Meade Alcorn has been trying to scare the voters by saying a Democratic victory in next month's congressional election would lead to socialism. Then he added in a speech at a National Press Club luncheon:

"It is said that apathy is rife throughout the land. Let me tell you that there is no apathy in the Democratic party. There was no apathy before Mr. Alcorn, Mr. Nixon, and I am sorry to say, the President himself, resorted to name calling . . .

"We are angry at the smears which have been levelled against us. We are indignant over the name-calling. We are going to fight back hard and clean and with redoubled vigor. And when we win we are not going to stoop to recrimination and partisan bickering during the last two years of the Eisenhower term."

In reply to questions after his talk, Butler predicted the Democrats will pick up 11 Senate seats from the GOP in the Nov. 4 elections, and increase their margin in the House by at least 40 seats. He declined to specify the Senate seats he had in mind.

Asked if he plans to resign after the election, Butler said he will have an announcement about his availability after Nov. 4. He said that in any event, the decision is up to the 108-member National Committee.

Shortly after his talk, a spokesman announced that the committee has been summoned to meet here Dec. 6. The spokesman described it as a normal winter meeting and said the committee will discuss such things as the site for the party's 1960 convention.

Adlai Strikes Out

Chicago (AP) —Adlai E. Stevenson struck out at Republican campaign speakers — among them President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon whom he mentioned by name — and said many of their charges against the Democrats were "the ultimate demagoguery."

"The old Nixon has been joined by the new Ike — or a new speech writer — in a desperate, intolerable, demagoguery type of campaign," Stevenson said.

He recalled that Eisenhower, speaking this week on the West Coast, "called us radicals, and charged that we Democrats are at odds with American tradition."

It is apparent, Stevenson said, "that the Republicans, from their convulsions, know that the Democrats are going to swing the country this fall. Their charges at this time are desperate, the ultimate demagoguery."

Own Campaign

Washington (UPI) — Foggy-voiced Tallulah Bankhead, an actress most of the time and a Democrat all of the time, opened her own "give 'em hell" political campaign.

She said it would be patterned after that of former President Truman, "that simply divine man that I just adore, dahling."

$5,000 Woods Grant For Juvenile Amendment

A grant of $5,000 to the Nebraska Committee for the Juvenile Court Amendment was announced Wednesday by the trustees of Woods Charitable Fund, Inc.

The money is to be used by the committee for an informational and advertising program urging Nebraskans to vote "for" a proposed constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to enact provisions for a system of separate juvenile courts in districts where the residents indicate by local option elections that they want them.

The foundation also pledged an additional $5,000, contingent upon the committee's ability to secure matching contributions.

James Paxton Jr., of Omaha, chairman of the group's finance committee, said about $12,000 has been raised, including the $5,000 grant and $1,000 of the fund's matching money. The committee has a goal of $20,000.

The announcement was made by Frank and Henry Woods of Chicago, sons of M and Mrs. Frank H. Woods, who endowed the fund in 1941.

Mr. Woods was founder of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company.

OMAHA (AP)— State Senator Charles F. Tvrdik said Wednesday if he is re-elected he will introduce a new anti-hitchhiking bill. One died in committee at the last legislative session.

why Ancient Age can say:

"IF YOU CAN FIND A BETTER BOURBON ...BUY IT!"

The answer is on the Ancient Age label. It clearly reads, "Distilled and Bottled by Ancient Age Distilling Company." The word "distilled" tells you that we, and we alone, make every drop of Ancient Age... that we use nothing but original and genuine Ancient Age Bourbon.

What's more, Ancient Age is made in one place only... at the distillery in Frankfort, Kentucky, in the heart of the great bourbon country.

That's why, no matter when or where you buy this superb bourbon... the fact that it's all distilled at the one distillery assures you of uniformity. The distinctive taste and bouquet are always the same... drink after drink, bottle after bottle.

People have made Ancient Age the largest selling six year old Kentucky Straight Bourbon in America!

Try Ancient Age tonight. After one taste you'll understand why we continue to say: "If you can find a better bourbon... buy it!"

CANDIDATE MEETS THE PUBLIC:

Brock Points To Farm Woe In All-Out Campaign

Editor's Note: This is the tenth of a series of articles by The Star's political reporter, who is spending a day with each of the state's major candidates.)

By Don Walton

A congressman for 8 days in 1956 until the storied mail vote turnover ousted him, Democrat Larry Brock of Wakefield is relying chiefly on the farm issue to carry him to Washington in 1958.

A farmer for 28 years, Brock has a 24-county district chock full of professional brothers.

And, the Third District Congressional nominee points out, success for the urban banker and small businessman (as well as every Nebraskan in northeast Nebraska) travels the same road as the fate of the farmer.

Republican Rep. Robert Harrison of Norfolk, 246-vote victor over Brock in 1956, is also talking farm; he happily points to the burgeoning corn crop which is presently overflowing the Third District.

Brock smiles too when he talks about the record corn production.

But, the smile is erased when he gets down to the recent past and near future.

And in the future lie a host of pressing problems ranging from increasing price-depressing surpluses to an impending flood on the hog market. Brock points out.

Eager To Battle

Brock, pointing to his background as a farmer and livestock feeder, is eager to battle these farm problems in Washington, he tells 3 farmers on a street corner in Wahoo.

Brock had big farm support in 1956.

His weak spot was York County where Harrison romped by a crucial two thousand votes.

Lawrence Brock

Candidate: Third District congressman.
Party: Democratic.
Age: 52.
Family: Married, 4 children.
Profession: Farmer.
Education: University of Nebraska College of Pharmacy.

BROCK . . . and twin daughters at David City.

Brock, striving to overcome his disastrous showing in the county two years ago, has made 4 major appearances there this year, plans a fifth visit during the final week of campaigning.

Major urban centers of the district — Fremont, Norfolk and Columbus — were good to Brock in 1956.

He hopes they will be even kinder in 1958, although Norfolk, Harrison's home town, may create a major obstacle this year.

Normal off-year (non-presidential) elections in the Third District produce a total vote of something more than 90,000.

Brock's big problem: labor.

Labor Endorsement

The tall, deep-voiced Democrat received endorsement from the state AFL-CIO this year.

Harrison has tried to tie Brock to the unpopularity of organized labor which is sweeping across Nebraska with surprising fervor due to recent labor racket hearings in Washington.

Brock points out that he did not seek labor endorsement, that he learned of it only through reading the papers and that he has "not received one cent" of labor money for his 1958 campaign.

"I turned thumbs down on $2,000 supposedly offered me from labor funds in Washington," Brock notes.

168 Communities

More than 7,000 Brock car bumper stickers adorn autos over the 24 counties. Billboards, posters, cards and limited radio and television spots complete the picture.

But the personal handshake and "help me Nov. 4" request from the candidate himself is the chief technique.

Traveling at a pace faster than 1956 (when he motored 18,865 miles), Brock has been so caught up in the whirlwind of his activities that he has caught himself twice campaigning beyond the borders of his district—once in the First and once in the Second District.

Stressing his active labor in livestock feeder groups, the Northeast Nebraska Rural Public Power District, the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn., and as a farmer, Brock will continue to point to the farm as the prime economic factor for all Third District residents.

His supporters will continue to note that farmers (at David City) received $1.44 for corn in 1952, the last year of a national Democratic administration.

On Oct. 20, 1958, they received 84 cents a bushel.

Wheat has dropped from $2.16 to $1.72, and oats from 77 cents to 50 cents, Brock workers note.

"Prices received by the farmer are down 21%; prices paid by farmers are up 62.8%," they point out.

High Court Gets Decision Appeal

Lloyd L. Evans, Holt County rancher, has carried to the State Supreme Court his appeal from a Holt County District Court decision which awarded $8,000 to Dwayne D. Anderson for damages he allegedly suffered while an employe of Evans.

In a brief filed with the high court, Evans said the district court verdict failed to grant him a fair trial and the verdict cannot be permitted to stand.

Anderson, of Omaha, originally sought a total of $110,535.57 damages, the brief said.

Young Model Killed On Mission To Win Back Indian Prince

London (AP) — A beautiful young model died in a plane collision over Italy on a mission to win back an Indian prince she thought she lost to actress Eva Bartok.

Auburn-haired Jane Buckingham, 24, rushed off for Naples aboard the ill-fated Viscount airliner that collided with an Italian jet fighter over Anzio 4 hours later.

Then it was learned her boy friend, Prince Shiv of Palitana, son of an Indian maharajah, was not even in Naples.

A family spokesman said he was en route there by car and probably had stopped in Paris.

The spokesman added the family knew nothing of a romance between the prince and Miss Buckingham. She was the mother of a 2-year-old daughter but was separated from her Lebanese husband.

Romance Off

The romantic troubles began two days ago when Miss Bartok's press agent announced her much-publicized romance with the dashing Marquess of Milford Haven was off and that she would marry the 27-year-old prince "within two weeks."

The prince, said the press agent, was in Naples, presumably to see his father, the Maharajah of Palitana, and arrange for parental approval of the marriage.

The announcement jolted Miss Buckingham, who met the prince last summer and had been his steady since.

Miss Buckingham, whose real name was Eugene May before she married lawyer Reginald Kawaga 3 years ago, was determined to reach an understanding with the prince.

"I won't let her take him away from me. I won't," she said before she left London.

Miss Bartok was at lunch in a fashionable London restaurant when told of Jane's death.

"Oh, my God," she exclaimed.

SUPERSONIC AIRLINE TRAVEL TOO EXPENSIVE—UAL OFFICIAL

Omaha (AP)—Air passengers won't be going supersonic for a while yet because it costs too much, Robert E. Johnson, senior vice president of United Air Lines, said Wednesday.

He said that for the first time in its history the airline industry can look forward to a technological breathing spell.

"We believe we will have an airplane that will not become obsolete in a reasonable period of time," he said.

Johnson referred to jet transports now rolling off the assembly line and in which the industry is investing more than two billion dollars. He said paying off this debt is going to keep the industry busy.

10-15 Years To Go

He said the jets have reached a plateau—just below the speed of sound—on which they will stay for perhaps 10 to 15 years.

Flying passengers beyond the speed of sound would take too much power and too much money, he said.

Johnson said Omaha can expect jet service "no later than 1961."

He was in Omaha to speak to the Rotary Club.

Lincoln will be served by small jet aircraft or turboprop aircraft by or before 1965, according to John M. Hodgson vice president for flight administration for United Air Lines, who addressed the Lincoln Rotary Club.

Once this goal is met, he added, the type of planes for commercial travel will only be changed about every 10 years instead of every 5 years.

He told the Rotarians that he expects as many as 40,000 passengers will be handled from Lincoln by 1965, compared with 592 served when United began here in 1928.

Army Missilemen Blast Proposed Space Scientist Team Shift

Washington (AP) — Army missile leaders rose up in open protest against the proposal that the new civilian space agency take over most of the Army's team of space-missile scientists.

The Army counterattack was launched at the annual convention of the U.S. Army Assn., composed of active and reserve officers and representatives of military industry.

Heretofore, the Army leaders had been timid in voicing their feelings on the issue of surrendering their top men and much of their facilities for missile-space work.

But these officers, fortified by strong resolutions adopted by the convention, used such words as "disastrous" and "fatal" in describing proposals by the new civilian administration.

Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, Army chief of research and development said a breakup of the Army's space-missile team—including more than 100 German-born scientists—could result in the nation "paying a price," and paying it soon, in defense against aggression.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, the Army's missile boss, put it more bluntly, saying the proposal to split the Army's space work from its military missile development could "obviously be a fatal thing."

The Army association resolutions urged President Eisenhower to maintain the Army Ordnance Missile Command which has its headquarters at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

The Army got the word of the impending proposal to surrender its major space and missile work about 10 days ago.

Eisenhower told his news conference that the final decision will be his, and it may not come for some time.

Trudeau said the decision might be reached at a meeting of the President's Space Council on Oct. 28.

Gen. Medaris brought the Army's views into the open on the association convention floor, when he said in response to questions "this is a time to paddle, not the time to rock the boat."

Nov. 16-22 Find-Diabetes Week Here

The Nebraska State Medical Association, announced that during the week of November 16-22, physicians have been asked to cooperate in a diabetes detection drive under the sponsorship of the American Diabetes Assn.

Also during that week the ADA is urging each citizen to visit his doctor and be tested for diabetes.

Diabetes is ranked 7th in the list of causes of death by disease and it has been estimated that one person in 75 in this country is a diabetic. This makes a total of approximately two million diabetics of which about one million are unaware that they have the disease.

The most common symptoms of diabetes, which strikes at all ages, are increased thirst, easy tiring, changes in vision, slow healing of cuts and bruises, and loss of weight. However, these symptoms may not be present but the person may have the disease.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

A fine, blowy day with a good deal of energy in the air. The sunlight is brighter and the sky is the bright blue of Chinese coolie pants.

First store I passed, I bought myself a new shirt. That is the way these things affect me. "Drips dry and needs only the touch of an iron."

When you come to think of it, ALL shirts drip dry. And need only the touch of an iron. But such miracle fibers send me. The miracle words don't hurt any, either.

☆ ☆ ☆

The tuexedo is making a comeback. Not because of miracle fibers or the miracle of hidden persuasion. Just all of a sudden I see a lot of dinner jackets at parties and such.

More invitations read: "Black tie."

The problem with tuxedoes is they last so long. They last for years and years and years. Fathers pass them along to their sons.

That is what happens to a suit you wear about once a year. It never wears out.

I have seen some fairly rare specimens recently. (There is a fine, strong reek of mothballs in the evening air.) Double-breasted jobs in midnight blue — remember?

I pulled my own dinner clothes out of the plastic cover this morning. There is a light, white film on the shoulders. That is where the moth spray settled. But I think it will brush off.

It fits me like a glove. When I bought this tuxedo, they were supposed to fit like gloves. Also I may have put on some weight in the past ten years. It hardly seems possible. But this jacket fits me like a kind of tight glove.

Perhaps we will let the seams out a little. I cannot bear to throw it away. Why, the seat is not even shiny yet.

I cannot remember what I purchased this formal attire for. Probably a day like this. All brisk and bright and money jingling in the pocket — I have no sales resistance whatsoever in this kind of weather.

The black jacket has hardly been worn at all. I just hung onto it on the off chance it would come in handy. Like being elected to some honorable society of something or other. And if not, they could bury me in it.

I think the long, informal days are over, though. And I have tried on this outfit and find myself looking exceedingly distinguished.

The collar seems a little low. And you could drop marbles down the back. I do not look like the man in the After Six ads. But it is a pretty flossy looking getup. Black as crow feathers.

The cummerbund seems a littl+ tight. But only when I laugh.

I do not intend to laugh much in this outfit. It is a serious dress. I have taken a look at the pants. There is plenty of material to let out.

I do not think we will have to let out much. It is not fat. I just seem to be a little more muscular, that is all. Spring steel.

The shirt is a problem. I do not remember the shirt being yellow. But this shirt is. Just a tinge. About like the color under your chin when you hold a buttercup under it to see if you like butter.

Otherwise we are all set for the season: Black and white and out all night.

'Complacency No. 1 West Weakness'

"Complacency" is the No. 1 weakness of the West in the cold war, Dr. Wallace Peterson said at the first fall meeting of Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Nebraska.

"We seem to treat the whole matter as a kind of gigantic world series in which the virtuous Yankees are sure to win out in the end," observed Dr. Peterson, associate professor of economics who spent last year in France.

There is "no inherent reason why western civilization will survive," he maintained. Instead, he said, it must "find the means the will" to do so.

Dr. Peterson observed that in western Europe there is "fear and uncertainty about the continuing ability of the United States to defend the west." Americans must realize, he said, that they can "afford" to do whatever is necessary for defense.

Turning to the Soviet economic offensive, the economist said the Russians could expand several-fold the present scope of their economic aid without undue strain.

The United States should be spending more money for aid "that really counts — economic aid for rapid development—" rather than for aid aimed at creating alliances that are of "doubtful military value," he maintained.

Decker Hits Questionnaire 'Falsehood'

State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker day branded as a "deliberate falsehood" a statement contained in a questionnaire sent to all legislative candidates by the Nebraska School Improvement Assn.

The statement alleged that the State Department of Education administers 60% of Nebraska's total budget.

"I don't know what percentage it is we administer, but obviously it's way below 60%," Decker said.

"This is a deliberate falsehood and anyone with any knowledge of state government at all will recognize it as such," he said.

Decker said people can "talk about me all they want to, so long as they tell the truth."

The Nebraska School Improvement Assn. recently failed to collect sufficient petition signatures for placing a constitutional amendment on the November ballot. The amendment would have made the state commissioner of education an elective officer.

Republican Valley Efforts Win Praise

. . . From Floyd Dominy, Ex-Nebraskan

McCook, Neb. (AP)—A reclamation Bureau executive points to the Republican Valley Conservation Assn. as having done a job in the valley that shows what can be done when people pull together.

Associate Commissioner of Reclamation Floyd E. Dominy, formerly of Hastings, Neb., made the comment in a talk at the 10th annual meeting of the association Wednesday night.

Dominy

After sketching the construction work to date and that planned, Dominy said "it is important that you demonstrate here, as other reclamation communities have demonstrated, that the Federal investment in water projects is worthwhile."

Then he referred to the criticism he said has come from some quarters that continued construction of such projects is unjustified because of surplus problems in some crops.

But, said Dominy, it is a fact that the placing of dryland under irrigation does not contribute to such surpluses. This is because irrigated acreage lends itself to diversification, he explained.

The 18th annual meeting also heard Sen. Carl Curtis and Rep. Phil Weaver, Nebraska Republicans, speak about the Washington scene.

Other speakers were State Senator Don Thompson of McCook, M. O. Ryan, the organization's counselor in Washington; R. J. Walter Jr., of Denver, Bureau of Reclamation regional director; Paul H. Berg the bureau's project manager at McCook; Maj. J. P. Barnes, Kansas City, representing the Corps of Engineers, and Alfred L. Chase, representing the Omaha District Engineers.

Tax Hearing Brings Forth Question For Attorney General

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Terry Carpenter posed a question Wednesday for the Nebraska attorney general.

The question: Should Nebraska-based corporations report cash on hand and accounts receivable that are held in other states?

Carpenter asked Douglas County Assessor Joe C. Stolinski to request an attorney general's opinion on this point. The question arose during the third day of hearings conducted by Sen. Carpenter and Sen. John P. Munnelly of Omaha, members of the legislature's special tax study committee.

Carpenter, chairman of the committee, raised the question while interviewing a representative of Peter Kiewit Sons Co., one of several firms to appear before him which do a substantial volume of business outside Nebraska although their home offices are here.

Carpenter said he merely wanted an opinion as to whether Kiewit was correct in reporting only those intangible assets held in Nebraska.

As the parade of taxpayers and their counsel passed before Carpenter once more the Scottsbluff lawmaker commented again that he was "amazed" at what he called the realism shown in the tax reporting of Douglas County firms.

He credited County Assessor Stolinski with "preventing a situation that I've seen elsewhere . . ."

HearingOn Phone Rate Boost Set

The State Railway Commission has set public hearings Dec. 8 on the application of the General Telephone Co. of Nebraska, Columbus, for authority to boost its telephone service charges.

The commission also set a pre-hearing conference on the application for Nov. 10.

Although the application does not call for specific exchange rate increases, it does request an increase in local service revenues amounting to $252,000 annually.

Increasing Costs

J. L. Van Horne, president of the firm, said increasing costs of doing business have made more revenue imperative. The company has had no increase in rates since March 1, 1953. However, since Jan. 1, 1953, Van Horne said, payroll costs have risen 32.8%, taxes 52%, and major items or material from 16 to 29%.

The company also said it has a large construction program in progress which resulted in gross additions of $950,000 in 1957 and an estimated $1,700,000 for 1958.

The Merriman Telephone Co., Merriman, won commission approval to hike its rates from 50c to one dollar, also effective Dec. 1.

The Norris Rural Public Power District, Beatrice, was given commission authority to construct electric transmission lines in Lancaster, Saline and Gage counties.

In other business the Commission:

Authorized the Kansas City-Atchison-Omaha Bus Lines, Inc., Kansas City, to add one more round trip daily between its Omaha and Falls City run.

Re-opened the extension application of the Gray Line of Omaha, Inc., for authority to extend its service from Ralston to Millard.

The commission:

—Set public hearings Dec. 2 in the AF&AM Lodge hall in Holbrook on the application of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad for authority to discontinue its agency service at Holbrook and to substitute a custodian.

—Set a public hearing Dec. 22 in the State Capitol building, on the application of the United Telephone Co. of the West, Scottsbluff, to issue additional common stock to itself for a consideration of $475,000.

'60 Omaha Street Fund Needs May Reach $3 Million

Omaha (AP)—The Omaha City Council heard that in 1960 the people may be asked to vote some $3 million for street improvement.

M. P. Russilo of the Chamber of Commerce said an estimated $4,400,000 will be needed to make connections with the interstate highway and start work on expressways in the city.

He said that only $1,400,000 of the money is in sight and suggested that 1960 may see the need for the $3 million request to the people.

New Officers Get Acquainted

Achieve Equilibrium Out Of Conflict, Women Told

. . . Home Ec Group Elects Lexington Woman

"Families have a moral obligation to prepare children to become world citizens," Dr. Lemo Rockwood told a Homemaker's Day audience Wednesday.

More than 600 homemakers were on the College of Agriculture campus for the activities. Dr. Rockwood, professor emeritus of family relations from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., challenged women to "seek understanding, gain perspective, discover and redefine attitudes and achieve equilibrium out of conflict."

A similar challenge came from Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin. He urged the homemakers to recognize the worth of higher education for women. He brought greetings from the University of Nebraska. Dr. Florence McKinney, chairman of the NU home economics department, also welcomed the visitors to the campus.

Mrs. Rex Rucksdashel of Lexington is the new president of the Home Economics Assn. of Organized Agriculture.

The homemakers who came from all over the state for Homemakers Day caught a glimpse of home economics education and life in Turkey from Mrs. Jack Steele of Lincoln. She recently returned after two years in Turkey where her husband was on the staff of Ankara University. Mrs. Steele was principal of the American School in Ankara for a year and did research on the history of Christianity in Turkey.

20 Counties Included In State's Oil Activity

. . . Compares With 14 For Last Year

Sidney, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska's oil activity has expanded to include 20 counties—compared to 14 at the same point in 1957. But total drilling has taken a slight decline over last year.

At the start of the final quarter of 1958, Nebraska has recorded 473 well completions compared with 660 last year, a drop of 28.3% according to figures just released by Rinehart's, a national oil reporting publication.

The 473 completions included 223 wildcats and 250 development wells with 142 oil producers and 320 dry holes and 11 tests either temporarily abandoned, or abandoned and junked with no verdict.

Kimball County's 212 completions during the first 9 months overshadowed other Panhandle counties. Banner ranked second with 128 and Cheyenne third with 71. Morrill County was fourth with 22.

Note Expansion

Expansion of the industry was noted in the state, however. The Rinehart report listed 20 counties participating in oil activity during the first 3 quarters of 1958, compared with 14 at the same time in 1957.

A part of the increase was due to an expanded program of exploration in the D and J sands, but a major share of the new counties were brought into consideration through the Pennsylvanian program in the Chadron-Cambridge arch areas and included Adams, Cherry, Dundy, Frontier, Grant, Keith, Lincoln and Sheridan Counties.
